TIT FOR TAT

"Would you like to be a man?" inquired a Toronto male reporter of a suffragette.

"No!" was the reply, "would you?"

Things are not always as they seem. Discerning ones who recognize the best are not easily influenced by the much advertised inferior mineral waters because they are less in price. The people of Victoria, as a rule, do not quibble about cost; they are accustomed to have and demand the best. This is why sales of "White Rock Lithia Water" are constantly increasing in this city. Another reason: leading physicians know the absolute purity of White Rock and invariably use and recommend this "Best Cold Bottle of the Age" to their patrons and friends. As a dilutant for whisky, wine or milk White Rock is positively unrivalled. Few bottles of any water except this splendid lithia are now to be found at any of the highest class clubs, cafes or hotels in B. C. White Rock is the most popular water and it is only right that it should be for it is the best mineral water procurable,—absolutely pure and wholesome. Pure, delicious, sparkling,—fit for a king's table and it does grace King Edward's table every day of the year. Order "White Rock" from your grocer for your Thanksgiving Day dinner. If your dealer does not keep it do not accept a spurious imitation, but 'phone us and we will give you the name of one who does supply it. Pither and Leiser, Wholesale Distributors for B. ## EDUCATION AND TRADE UNIONS

Committee of Federation of Labor Debate Question of Technical Training

SEE NECESSITY FOR PROMPT ACTION

Capital Ready to Establish Special Schools Injurious to Youth

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22.—Widely divergent views upon how the big problems of industrial education in the United States can best be worked out for the economic betterment of boys and girls in this and future generations were voiced today in vigorous utterances attending the meeting of the industrial education committee of the American Federation of Labor.

Reflected in the speeches of many of the labor leaders was the fear that if the public does not introduce "vocational" manual training courses into the public school systems of the country, capital will seek to set up a specialized or contracted system of education, fraught with evils to the workingmen's children.

John Mitchell, vice-president of the federation, is chairman of the committee which was selected by the federation to gather information about different systems of industrial education in this and foreign countries, and to report to the convention to be held in Toronto next month. President Gompers, who made a thorough investigation of the question on his trip abroad, has a seat near the chairman.

Representative W. B. Wilson, of Pennsylvania, known as the "miner statesman" and a member of the committee, made a tingling speech declaring for technical training as a part of the public school system.

James Wilson, president of the Pattern League, Cincinnati, pleaded with the Federation not to go on record as favoring trades schools. C. W. Cross, superintendent of apprentices of New York Central lines, declared that the growing scarcity of skilled workmen has already become a problem to roads officials, and that if a plan for recruiting the service is not provided immediately.

Health Association

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 22.—Milwaukee was chosen as the next meeting place for the American Public Health Association at its closing session this morning. Officers elected for the ensuing year include Dr. C. O. Probst, of Columbus, Ohio, president, and Dr. C. A. Hodges, Toronto, first vice-president.

ISLAND TIMBER LANDS SOLD

Half a Million Dollar Transaction Reported Taking Place in Toronto

PORT HOPE, ONT., Oct. 22.—A big sale of Vancouver Island timber lands, involving half a million dollars and 30,000 acres, has just been made by Mr. H. H. Jones, of Victoria, B. C., once of Port Hope. W. T. Chambers, of Toronto, conducted the sale. Mr. Jones says the sale will revolutionize the coast export trade, as the mills will be at Esquimalt, and in touch with a billion feet of timber.

ASSIZES AT NELSON

NELSON, B. C., Oct. 22.—Chief Justice Hunter and Justice Clements were busy at the assizes here today, the former hearing an Indian murder case for the second time. The first trial proved abortive owing to the jury separating. The latter is hearing the trial of Lockhart, of Fernie, charged with the theft of a thousand dollars of the Fernie fire relief fund. Good progress was made in both cases, and they will be finished tomorrow.

The chief justice had Constable Moore, who let the jury separate yesterday, before him, and after hearing that official's explanation, said he believed the mistake was due to the constable's "blundering stupidity," otherwise he would have punished him. If any further trouble of the kind happened, the official responsible would get into trouble. Moore was discharged from all further duties. The accused Indian will go on the table tomorrow morning at the quarantine station at Grosse Isle with a case of smallpox on board, a child belonging to a Russian immigrant in the steerage. It is expected that the steamer will be released tomorrow after the passengers have been examined. The passengers have been examined.

BACK TO EAST

Alleged Desperado Must Return to Stand Trial for Crime in Nova Scotia

VANCOUVER, Oct. 22.—W. L. Burgess, accused of being one of two desperadoes who at noon on May 19th last held up the office force of the Canadian Express company at Truro, N. S., and stole cash and money orders amounting to about $15,000, is to be started back to Nova Scotia tonight, in charge of W. H. Welsh, manager of the Canadian Detective Bureau here, who made the arrest.

Burgess has been held in jail here for more than two weeks on a charge of forging the name of W. B. Wallace to some of the alleged stolen express orders. This morning the forger charge was withdrawn, a warrant for arrest on the robbery charge having reached this city from Truro. J. A. Russell, Burgess' counsel, in the police court, made a strong fight before Magistrate Williams, to have his man held here longer. He objected to the withdrawal of the forger charge. The last time Burgess was before the court the case was remanded for one week. Mr. Russell objected to calling the case before the time of the adjournment. He argued that at any rate it was within the magistrate's power to try the robbery charge here. Magistrate Williams disagreed, and allowed the withdrawal.

Burgess then was served with the Truro warrant, and locked up again. Mr. Russell asked for time in which to serve a writ of mandamus, and the court said that as the charge had been withdrawn, there was nothing further before it.

JEALOUSY LEADS TO DOUBLE CRIME

Murder and Suicide in Skagway Consequent on Suspicious of Husband

VANCOUVER, Oct. 22.—Enraged by the fancy that Jack Stewart had been paying too much attention to his wife while she was outward bound from Dawson, a man named Boardman shot Stewart in the neck at Skagway, on the night of October 15th, and then turned the revolver upon himself, putting a bullet through his right temple, and blowing his left eye clean out of its socket. Both men were Klondike pioneers, and both probably by this time are dead in the hospital at Skagway.

The attempt at murder and suicide took place in the Fifth Avenue Hotel, Skagway. Boardman left Dawson two months ago, and was waiting in Skagway for his wife. She and Stewart are reported to have come up the Yukon at the same time, though it is stated they were not travelling in company. Stewart was sitting in the hotel office after dinner when Boardman entered, and without parley fired on him. Stewart fell at the first shot, and Boardman lost no time in shooting himself. Both men are Englishmen, and intended spending the winter in Victoria.

FIVE MEET DEATH

Collision on Panhandle Division of Pennsylvania Railway Results Seriously

RICHMOND, Ind., Oct. 22.—Five persons and possibly more were killed in a wreck on the Panhandle division of the Pennsylvania railway near Collinsville, Ohio, today, when a passenger train ran into a freight train in an open siding. A relief train with medical aid was sent from Richmond. The passenger train, which does not stop at Coldsville, is said to have been running 50 miles an hour when the collision occurred. According to reports the switch was open and the passenger and freight trains came together head on. The dead: E. G. Webb, Richmond, passenger train engineer. O. O. Raines, Kokomo, mail clerk. Louis Marshall, Richmond, freight train engineer. E. H. Harfield, Greensfork, Ind., mail clerk. Elmer Brown, Logansport, Ind., passenger train engineer. It is said that none of the passengers were killed, but that several men in the smoker were injured.

Electrification of Railway.

PHOENIX, B. C., Oct. 22.—Some weeks ago it was stated that the Canadian Pacific Railway management was investigating the feasibility of the electrification of the branch to Phoenix city, and that with the abundance of power at the front door the construction of an electric railway system to handle transportation on boundary grades is but a matter of time.

It is now learned from official sources that the railway management has received reports from the engineers who looked over the route and that the matter is now under consideration. It is further stated that the reports are of such a satisfactory nature that actual work of construction will commence next summer.

Power will be secured from the West Kootenay Power and Light company and the proposed line for initial electrification is from Phoenix to the Granby smelter.

G. J. Bury, general manager of the western line of the C. P. R., accompanied by Grant Hall, superintendent of motive power and F. F. Busted, general superintendent of the Pacific division, was in the boundary during last week looking over the proposed betterments and extensions.

EXTENSION OF ISLAND ROAD

Premier Gives Assurance Work Will Start Concurrently With Work on Mainland

WITHIN THREE MONTHS OF PASSING OF BILL

Conservatives Sanguine of Sweeping Victory at the Polls Nov. 25th

"The terms of the agreement between the provincial government and the Canadian Northern Railway provide for the commencement of the latter's extension upon Vancouver island concurrently with the work on the mainland."

The above statement was made by Hon. Richard McBride yesterday, in confirmation of the announcement of D. D. Mann, vice president of the railway company to the same effect.

Under the terms of the agreement the railway must commence work within three months of the ratification of the agreement by the provincial legislature.

Mr. Mann made the further statement that half of the island road would be completed within two years from the commencement of the work and that the entire line would be completed by the end of the specified time four years.

With organization thoroughly perfected, with over 1,600 new names put on the voters' lists as against 750 put on by the Liberals and Socialists during the last two sessions of revision, the Conservative association in this city, is preparing for and awaiting the results of the election in Victoria with the utmost confidence. The entire organization is in first class shape. Hundreds of willing workers have come forward and offered their aid. A meeting of the association to arrange for the holding of the nominating convention will be held on Monday night, and the date of the nominating convention will probably be seven days later, on November 1.

All details for the canvass of the city ward districts have been rearranged and as soon as the voters' lists are in the hands of the association a thorough and systematic canvass will be undertaken. There is a remarkable degree of enthusiasm evidenced among the workers, no fewer than a hundred volunteers attending a meeting held for the purpose of appointing canvassing committees.

Never before in the political history of Victoria has so much interest been shown among the Conservatives at such an early stage of a campaign. Despite the fact that the return of four Conservative members is regarded as assured, the association is leaving no stone unturned, whereby they may assure the success being of a sweeping character.

ADDITIONAL WING FOR THE EMPRESS

Announcement Made by Hayter Reed That Work Will Be Rushed

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 22.—Hayter Reed, manager of C. P. R. hotels, announced this morning that the company has decided to enlarge the Empress hotel in Victoria by the addition of seven rooms. The work will start immediately and the addition will be ready for next year's traffic.

The company will also build an additional ninety room wing to the Albion hotel at St. Andrews, N. B.

The foundation for an additional wing for the Empress hotel was built during the construction of the hotel and lies in readiness for the superstructure. It includes a basement, concrete lined, and underpinning of sufficient strength to support the desired addition. It lies at the southeast corner of the present building.

ASK SUBSIDY FOR ANTIPODEAN LINE

Laurier Urged to Assist Freight Line From Eastern Ports to Australia

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 22.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier today promised an early consideration of the request of a deputation of business men from Montreal, Toronto, Sydney, N.S., Owen Sound, Ottawa and Guelph, for a subsidy of $250,000 for three years in aid of the proposed line of freight steamers to connect between New Zealand and Australian ports from Montreal, Quebec, St. John and Halifax. The company proposed that the steamers make six trips a year.

It was pointed out that the bulk of Canadian exports to New Zealand and Australia now go via New York and that facilities are not what they should be. These exports total $4,000,000 per annum.

KING EDWARD OPENS INSTITUTION

Opened Doors of New Anti-Tuberculosis Institution by Cable Yesterday

MONTREAL, QUE., Oct. 22.—With the button of an electric cable, to the bridge, 4,000 miles separating Montreal from his library at West Dean park, Chichester, His Majesty King Edward VII. yesterday afternoon formally opened the Royal Edward Institute in Belmont Park, before a large assembly, in which the reversal of pleasant. A guard of honor, consisting of 107 men of all ranks, drawn from the Prince of Wales Fusiliers, enhanced the note of dignity which royal and imperial functions demand.

Sir George Drummond presided, and with him on the platform were Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, representing His Excellency Earl Grey, and accompanied by Col. Roy, of the brigade staff. Dr. Phillip, of Edinburgh, the physician with whom the idea of a tuberculosis dispensary originated; Dr. Roddick, Dr. Yates, Alderman Fraser, as acting mayor, and Lieut.-Col. Burland, to whose munificence, and that of his sisters, the institute is due.

Cable to King.

After addresses by Sir George Drummond and Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, the following cablegram was sent to His Majesty:

"May I please your Majesty—As chairman of the inauguration of the institution which your Majesty has been graciously pleased to honor with your name, may I, on behalf of the donors, Lieut.-Col. Burland and his sisters, of the officers of the Royal Edward Institute, and of the citizens of Montreal, and others here assembled convey to your Majesty our profound gratitude for your interest in this work, in the welfare of your subjects in Montreal, and in the province of Quebec."

"May I beg your Majesty to honor us further by opening the doors of the institute."

The King replied as follows:

"West Dean Park, Chichester."

"I have much pleasure in declaring the Royal Edward Institute at Montreal now open. The means by which I make this declaration testifies to the power of modern science; and I am confident that the future history of the institute will afford equally striking testimony of the beneficent results of that power when applied to the conquest of disease and the relief of human suffering. I shall always take a lively interest in the institute, and I pray that the blessing of the Almighty may rest upon all those who work in and work for it, and also upon those for whom it works."

BRITISH PREFERENCE

Saved What Trade With Canada Britain Possesses

LONDON, Oct. 22.—In referring at Queensbury today to his recent visit to Canada, Lord Milner said he had met a man whose business it was to study the question of the importation of British goods to Canada. He belonged to no party and he had no political bias, but he had immense information. Lord Milner said he asked him to tell him honestly what had been the effect of Canadian preference as regards the importation of British goods, and his reply was that it had saved for Great Britain whatever trade she still had with Canada.

OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—The appointment of Hon. H. F. Sutherland to the Ontario bench is confirmed and the order in council is being put through.

THE LORDS AND THE BUDGET

T. P. O'Connor, M. P., Says Ireland Must Benefit From the Situation

DISCUSSES SITUATION AND ITS BEARINGS

On Annual Canvass for Subscriptions From Irish Americans, "Patriot" Talks

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—"Ireland has never in her history had such a chance for home rule as now," said T. P. O'Connor, member of parliament, lieutenant of John Redmond, and fighter for the Irish cause, at his hotel in this city tonight.

His country's future will be discussed by Mr. O'Connor before the Irish-Americans from now until November 10, for that is what brought him to the United States.

"There is an if," he continued. "Ireland must make the most of her chance and it is to ask Irish-Americans to help her make the most of it, to contribute to carrying through the general election now approaching, that I am here. We are a poor people and of the eighty-one Nationalists or Irish members of Parliament, the people have to support perhaps sixty by private subscription. A seat in the house with us, you know, carries no salary."

Situation in England

"The United Kingdom is in a ferment, such as has not been known in three generations—not since the thirties when the rotten boroughs were wiped out. The issue before the people has been put squarely by Lloyd-George and the people understand it. 'Shall the peers or the people rule?'"

"King Edward has foreknowledge of the crisis that may confront him and the measure of his recent activities is a measure of his anxiety. The budget now goes before the House of Lords. If they reject it, the government will go to the people for a vote of confidence, and in my opinion, they will be returned. The present government would pass by 300 votes in the house a home rule bill for Ireland were they not withheld by a conviction that the peers would promptly veto it, therefore they will not waste time on a bill sure to be killed when there is much other important legislation. But if the present government is sustained at the polls, they will demand of the peers a right of suspension veto. That is, a bill passed by the house may still be rejected by the lords, but if the house again passes it in the face of this rejection, the bill shall forthwith become law."

The Whip Hand

"You ask me why the peers will grant this concession? Because if they refuse it the premier with the country behind him, would say, with all respect to the King, 'Sir you must give me a majority in the House of Lords.' The King may do this by the creation of new peers and in this instance he would have to do it, because the sovereign under the constitution must follow the advice of his responsible ministers."

"Suppose the Lords pass the budget. The government, in my opinion, will still find a pretext to go before the people for support on the deeper issue formulated by Lloyd-George. But suppose, again, that the government goes before the people for support is defeated, why even then we shall have such a small Tory majority that the Irish vote will command the situation. And it frequently happens that Ireland can get more from a Tory than from a Liberal government, because the peers being practically Tory, must support the measures that come up to them from a Tory ministry."

"King Edward does not wish to face the crisis I have suggested, and he is trying to compromise the situation, to bring the peers to a realization of their embarrassment. Whether he wins or loses, Ireland cannot lose. If she rises to her opportunity, home rule is hers within from three to five years."

CORN IN ALBERTA

Large Areas Will Be Cropped During Next Season

CALGARY, Alb., Oct. 22.—Corn has now been grown so successfully in small quantities in so many sections of Southern Alberta and for such a number of years that agriculturists have decided that they can with profit devote a portion of their farms to this crop. First to announce his intention of raising a large quantity is George Lane, who is, this fall, preparing 25 acres near Bassano in the Bow valley with a view to sowing to corn next spring. He had great success with corn this year, the crop fully maturing and the grain being of excellent quality. Americans are jubilant as they realize that the corn grown here must yield heavily on all areas where irrigation is available.

RECEIVED POLICY WITH ENTHUSIASM

Lower Fraser to Support Premier McBride Warmly
Says Mr. Manson

Mr. W. J. Manson, M. P. P. for Dewdney, who spent yesterday in the city, stated that the announcement of the government's railway policy was received with the utmost enthusiasm all along the lower Fraser valley, all the people he had met thoroughly approving the scheme as outlined, as well as calculated to advance the prosperity of the province by giving an impetus to settlement and development. "It is a certainty," said Mr. Manson that Dewdney riding will return a supporter of the present government by a very large majority when the election is held. Last Wednesday evening the Conservatives had a meeting for organization at Mission, Mr. Woodworth, the president of the Provincial association, being present and giving an address. The gathering was a great success, the news of the railway plans being hailed with the utmost satisfaction, and as a striking evidence of the magnificent policy of progress inaugurated by Premier McBride. The premier may well count on the warmest support from the whole lower Fraser.

Mr. Manson further stated that a meeting would be held at Mission next week to arrange for a convention at an early date for the selection of a candidate.

WELCOME HUMBER AFTER ABSENCE

Fellow Aldermen Glad to See Him Back But References Somewhat Mixed

Just because Ald. Humber has not been present at the last few meetings of the city council and committees of which he is a member, he was welcomed back to the civic fold in vociferous fashion last evening when he appeared bright and early at the meeting of the streets, bridges and sewers committee. But just why, because he happened to put in an appearance at the meeting last night he should have been the occasion of Ald. Raymond becoming hopelessly mixed in his biblical references, or why Ald. Turner should have mysteriously referred to "that resolution" is a question which Ald. Humber is doubtless pondering.

The return of the fatted calf, ejaculated Ald. Raymond when he looked across the civic round table and saw his confrere from ward two. "You're shy on your biblical knowledge," ventured Ald. Humber, who took occasion to give Ald. Raymond the correct quotation. Ald. Turner asked what had happened to "that resolution," a reference which was explained to Ald. Humber. It appears that during the latter's absence his brother aldermen prepared a resolution to the effect that the council express its condolence with him for his inability to attend the civic sessions. In case any of the aldermen might recognize their confrere Ald. Turner introduced the "missing" to the other members of the board, and after this piece of pleasant serious business of the committee was tackled.

The Shepherd King.
One of the most notable attractions of the theatre this season is the appearance of Wright Lorimer and his excellent company in the spectacular production of "The Shepherd King." Mr. Lorimer will be seen in his original and remarkable personation of David, the shepherd-warrior who afterwards became king over Israel. The story is one of the most interesting, coherent, ingenious and extremely dramatic seen on any stage in recent years and repeats in an enthralling form a story that is dear to the people of the world over. Friday and Saturday October 29 and 30 with special matinee will be the dates of the performance.

"The Fighting Hope."
The skill of David Belasco is always in evidence. Each new production gives evidence of his creative capability of his remarkable genius, and Miss Blanche Bates' new play, "The Fighting Hope," which will be seen at the Victoria theatre on Wednesday, October 27, contains testimonials of his possession of a power to artistic expression such as no contemporary producer has yet displayed. An example of Belasco detail is exhibited in the second act of "The Fighting Hope." Miss Bates, as "Anna Duke," a photographer, during the course of the drama is called upon to write several letters for her employer, "Mr. Temple, president of the Gotham Trust Company." Where the less exacting producer might have used almost any kind of paper, for this purpose, Mr. Belasco had printed a thousand letterheads bearing the title, "Gotham Trust Company," together with the names of all the officers of the concern as they appear in the cast.

Pantages Theatre
Matinee this afternoon at 3 and two performances tonight will close the engagement of the vaudeville company now at the Pantages, and beginning Monday a complete change of programme will take place. The new bill is to be one of the very best of the season according to advance reports, each act coming direct from the big eastern vaudeville circuit of vaudeville theatres.

PRACTICE RUGBY MATCH TODAY

J.B.A.A. Will Hold Final Workout in Preparation for Game Thanksgiving Day

This afternoon at the Royal Park following the scheduled soccer match, the J. B. A. A. Rugby team that is to play McGill University, of Vancouver, on Thanksgiving afternoon will line up against a team picked by John Arbuckle, secretary of the Victoria club.

While the team that will play the Bays is not altogether a Victoria representative team, Arbuckle will select a team composed of many of the players of the Victoria club. Monday's game will really be the first game of the season, and as the J. B. A. A. team have been practicing the trophies for the past few weeks, they intend to spring a big surprise on the Mainlanders, when they clash at Oak Bay grounds Monday afternoon.

Boss Johnson will hold down the position of full back this season for the Bays, and from past performances should do well. In the three-quarter line the J. B. A. A. will be strongly represented by Thompson, Sargison, Vincent, Bendroit, Carrs or Nason. Sid Winsby and Billy Newcombe will likely be the halves, while the forwards will be selected from Miller, Jeffs, Jack Sweeney, Robson, Leo Sweeney, Wilson, Turner, Grimason, P. Sweeney, Hisecks and Jones.

Just who will make the forward ranks for the big Thanksgiving Day match cannot be said as yet, as today's game will be the first real try-out of the season.

The McGill University boys will arrive here on the Sunday afternoon boat, and the game on Monday will commence sharp at 3 o'clock. In the evening the visitors will be entertained by all J. B. A. A. Rugby followers and supporters with a gala dance that is to be held in their honor in the New Broad street hall. This will be the first dance of the season at the new hall, and already the ruggers have the hall prettily decorated for the occasion. Refreshments will be served by the X. L. Catering co., who promise to have everything the best. It is safe to say that the J. B. A. A. will be the biggest hit of the season in the dancing line, and a big attendance is looked for.

SPRING RIDGE REGRADE

Latest Plans, if Adopted, Will Mean Big Reduction on Original Estimate of Cost

The revised plans and data of the proposed Spring Ridge improvement scheme have been submitted to the special committee of the council which has been considering the improvement of the "gravel pit" section by lowering of street grades, filling in of pits and levelling down the hills where necessary. The first estimate of cost submitted by the city engineer was based on a scheme of work which the owners interested claimed was not what was intended. This estimate of cost was somewhere in the neighborhood of $180,000, an amount out of all reason but it included local improvement works, such as permanent walks, boulevards, etc., which it was felt could do well be left until after the chief work was completed, and then only undertaken should the owners desire it as in the case of other sections of the city.

The engineer, it was claimed, had not struck such levels as would give the greatest amount of material for civic use. The latest plans provide for lowering the levels in some sections thus providing for much more material and a consequent reduction in the cost to the owners as the more material that can be secured the less the owners will eventually be called upon to pay.

The scheme now before the committee calls for an expenditure of about $35,000 all of which, the owners believe, will be met by the sale of valuable material, gravel and filling, to the city. A meeting of the joint civic and property owners' committee will probably be held next week when the whole matter will be gone into.

SCHOOL RUGBY FIFTEEN TIE

High School and University Put Up Great Exhibition in First Match

The initial Intercollegiate Rugby Football match of the season that was played yesterday afternoon between the Victoria High school and University school fifteens resulted in a tie, five points.

From the sound of the whistle the game was a good one, and it is some time since such an exhibition of the great English game has been played on the University school grounds. As a rule the opening game of the season is in all leagues a rather slow one, but not so with yesterday's battle. It savored of gingerly and spiky Rugby all the way. Time and time again did the forwards of both teams attempt to get the leather covered sphere over the touch line, all to no avail. When the end of the final half was announced both teams were even, each having one try and a goal, or in other words five points.

Day, the star forward of the High school made the only try, and although he shot over the line way out near the touch line, Touhy, the surfer-kicking three-quarter back of that team made a beautiful boot and sent the pigskin flying through the posts. Touhy's kick was easily the feature of the day's play. Ross scored the try for the University boys, and Rich converted from the center of the field.

Allan Clarke, the speedy sprinter of the High school, who captains the High school fifteen, played a good game at three-quarters while Johnson, Brown and Day were the pick of the forwards.

FAVOR ASIATIC EXCLUSION

Eastern Societies to Take Joint Action in This Cause

OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—It would seem from communications received in answer to an inquiry sent out by the Ottawa St. George's Society that most of the branches throughout the Dominion are strongly against the employment of Oriental labor on Canadian railways. The branch in St. John, N. B., is among those which favor rigid exclusion, and the Toronto society suggests that the matter be taken up by the St. Andrew's Society, the Sons of England, and the United Protestant Benefit Society so as to make it a British movement.

ALBANY, Oct. 22.—Armed with a loaded revolver and two sticks of dynamite half a dozen convicts in the Clinton prison at Dannemore planned to escape from that institution tonight by overpowering or killing the prison guards and blowing out a portion of the prison wall with the dynamite. Information concerning the desperate plot reached Warden Cole today through a convict and their well laid plans were quickly frustrated and the conspirators locked up.

Fatality Near Kingston
KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 22.—A despatch received here states that what are supposed to be the remains of three human bodies, have been found in the ruins of a house which was destroyed by fire this morning at Calabogie on the Kingston & Barry Sound railway, 59 miles from here. Two of the three who are thought to have perished in the flames are undoubtedly Robert McIntyre, owner of the house, about 52 years of age and unmarried, and his mother, aged 80 years. Who the third person was is still unknown.

There is every indication that a large and fashionable audience will greet Mme. Jomelli and Marie Nichols on Monday evening. The box office opens this morning and, judging from the number of inquiries made there, a big rush for seats is anticipated. The box holders for the season are: Mrs. Duns-muir, Mrs. J. H. S. Matson, Mrs. Flum-erfelt, and Mrs. Audain.

Mme. Jomelli and her gifted party will be well entertained while in Victoria, and nothing will be left undone to make her sojourn here agreeable.

The prices for Monday evening's concert are from 75c to $2.50.

Mme. Jomelli is meeting with unprecedented success in her present tour, and quite recently sang to an audience of 11,000 people. She is acknowledged as one of the greatest living sopranos. Marie Nichols is also included in the front rank of women violinists, and the musical society anticipate that Monday's concert will rank as one of the best they have ever given.

ORGANIZE HOME FOR DELINQUENT'S

Children's Aid Society and City to Co-operate in Establishing Institution

A delinquents' home will be inaugurated by the Children's Aid Society with the support of the city council.

Such was the decision made by the Children's Aid Society at a session held yesterday. The city council will be represented upon the board of the society by two members of the city council and a sum of money will be set aside by the city for the support of the home.

This decision was taken after the reading of the report of the Hon. Secretary, Mrs. Gordon Grant. This was as follows:

Mr. President and Members.—The features of the work since we last met are more encouraging than usual. It began with a visit from Judge Lindsay who by his address at the public meeting in the city hall, awakened an interest in the work of reclaiming wayward children and the need for a juvenile court and a delinquents' home in our city.

As a result of the lecture and the needs of our work, by invitation of the mayor, Rev. Mr. Carson, Mr. McPhillips and the secretary of the city, the mayor and the city solicitor to discuss the work of the children. As a result of that interview Ald. Bishop and Ald. Raymond have been recommended as members of this board, representing the city council, and the city has to pay $56 a month for the support of Mrs. Clark's seven children, and when the taxes are all paid the city council will, if possible, pay sufficient to this society to begin the work in a small way on a proper basis of delinquents' home in our city.

Work Performed.

On August 14 the chief of police telephoned me to visit a woman who had been deserted by her husband. I called at once and found a very sick woman with three children, under seven. The woman had been deserted by her husband, an inveterate gambler, who was taking her to court in case in which a mother and children should not be separated but helped financially and friends have done this for her.

On September 9, the stipendiary magistrate telephoned that two young girls were in the lockup and he wished I would see them. I found both girls were over 16 and thus past the age for the children's protection society. I went to their trial, however, and we let off on suspended sentence. One of them was sent to a convent by her father.

Afterwards visited a young woman and tried to persuade her to enter a home with her baby, but as she was over age, could only persuade her. On September 9 I got a letter telling me that a ward of the children's aid had been allowed to visit her mother in Victoria and while there had run away. I saw the chief of police who notified all the coast towns on both sides of the strait, but she could not be found. Two weeks later I received another letter stating that the child arrived home safely. She had taken the boat to Seattle because her mother said she would send her to a convent if she did not give up some child, love affair. A lady and gentleman on the boat saw she was in trouble, enquired the cause, took her in charge, gave her a visit in Seattle while they wrote to her father, then took her back to her father in New Westminster.

The stipendiary magistrate again telephoned regarding a young woman in the provincial jail, an opium fiend. I arranged for her to go to the W. C. T. U. home as soon as her sentence expired at the jail. A child, aged 12 years, ran away from the home but was later found by the police. I arranged for her to go to the convent in Vancouver at her father's expense.

On Wednesday I received word from the president about a 12-year-old girl. I investigated and on Saturday day got her into the W. C. T. U. home for a few days until the case could be considered by the society.

Mr. A. E. McPhillips, M. P., telephoned me that the police had called to say that a woman who was in the lockup for ten days for drunkenness was neglecting her child of two. On investigating the case I found that six children had been previously given by the court to our society, and they being Catholics were taken by that institution; the father promising to pay for them monthly but as a matter of fact never paid but $20 for the first month. The husband has just returned from the west coast and on Sunday a police constable telephoned that if we wanted to get any money from him we would have to do it soon as he was spending it freely. The child could not be found and the mother would not tell where it was. The matter is now in the hands of our solicitors.

Death of Ward.

I received word today of the death by accidental drowning of John Caw-gill, a ward of this society, who was living at Salt Spring Island. He was doing well and his death is generally regretted. On Tuesday received word from the President that an orphan boy had run away from the home. He was located on Stanley avenue and the president undertook to send a policeman and have him taken home until application can be made to the court on his behalf.

I also received $5.00 from Rev. B. Allen and $1.00 membership fee from Mrs. Kate Winter of Shawinigan. Had an application for a little baby girl for adoption but had no baby. I would suggest that we endeavor in the establishment of a temporary shelter to combine a home for school boys without parental control where fathers shall pay for their board when practicable. The fathers of these boys are willing to pay $12 per month for each boy if we will control them. If the shelter is once started, these boys and others can be taken in without any charge to the city and saved from becoming criminals.

MRS. GORDON GRANT,

Hon. Secretary.

A special committee consisting of Mrs. Grant, Rev. Hermon Carson, Ald. Bishop, and Mr. Charles Hayward, the chairman of the board of directors, was appointed to take up the suggestions made in the report and to outline a scheme to give them practical effect.

Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Clyde tendered their resignations in order to leave vacancies to permit of the election of the city's representatives upon the board. These were accepted and Ald. Bishop and Ald. Raymond were duly elected.

Amongst those present were Mr. Charles Hayward, Rev. W. L. Clay, Ald. Bishop, Mesdames Grant, Marvin and Burns.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Socialism.

Sir,—Captain Wolley is worried over the poor man's "bit o' land and cottage being stolen by those horrid Socialist agitators." He says, in answer to Mr. Scott: "Does he think that the workingman who works and puts away his savings in a bit of land for his children will be content that the children of the agitator who does not work should rob them of their fathers' hard won property. I don't."

Now, surely, if Mr. Wolley had read anything of the Socialist philosophy, or had he even read the Socialist party's platform, he would know better. We are not after the poor man's bit o' land and cottage. We're after bigger game. We demand the means of production: the factories, mills, mines, railways, etc.; in short, where we have socialism in production, we want socialism in ownership. This eventually will mean "The earth and the fulness thereof" for the workers physical and mental) alone. Regarding agitators who do not work, I couldn't find one with a search-warrant for agitating is work, often hard work. The Socialist party of Canada have three or four lecturers in this immense field and they are only "agitating" part of the year, and are paid wages of the average working man, about $2.25 per day. I would advise the doughty captain to read up some standard Socialist works and investigate our tactics.

OWNERS BALK AT AGREEMENT

Hitch Occurs in Plan to Place Wires Underground—Foreshore Rights.

All is not plain sailing in the matter of the proposition before the city council to co-operate with the B. C. Telephone company in the placing underground of the telephone wires within the district bounded by Johnson, Blanchard, and Humboldt streets and the water front. The negotiations had not got so far that the city agreed to endeavor to secure agreement from property owners in the various blocks into which it was necessary to secure entry in order that the wires might be distributed to the various telephone users in these blocks. The idea was to lay conduits on the street along which the telephone mains would be run, and from these laterals would be run into the blocks, the city to secure an agreement with the owners interested to permit of underground laterals being laid.

This agreement has been prepared by the city, but Mr. Ellis, who was engaged by the city to interview the owners, has met with opposition. He reported to the streets, bridges, and sewers committee last night that the agreement does not seem satisfactory to many of the owners. It is too one-sided in that it says nothing about the rights of the owners in the case of the laterals being carried from the main conduits into the centre of the blocks. On the other hand, the agreement calls for the granting of a perpetual right to the company to maintain the central distributing point, and in case of a transfer of the property such right would be reserved. As the city figured that the removal of poles along the streets would prove a benefit to the owners, the consideration for such agreement was placed at the nominal sum of one dollar, such consideration being given merely to give legal effect to the agreement. But some of the aldermen fail to see why any owner should give perpetual rights to the telephone company for one dollar, when probably the right conferred would seriously affect his property.

It was finally decided to refer the matter back to the committee, which considered it before, and a report subsequently will be made to the council.

Should Protect Owner.

The necessity of the city entering into some permanent agreement with the owners at the foot of Johnson street, along the north side of whose property runs the temporary approach leading to the E. & N. railway bridge, was urged by Messrs. Elliott & Shandley, solicitors for Mrs. Munn, on whose land the approach runs. If the temporary bridge should be decided upon by the railway commissioners as the proper course for a permanent structure, Mrs. Munn should be protected as to that extent the value of the property for building purposes would be affected.

Messrs. Elliott & Shandley point out that the terms on which the city has been permitted to use a portion of their client's property for the temporary bridge has not been settled, and they ask that a draft of an agreement between the city and Mrs. Munn be submitted so that it can be considered, and if satisfactory to both parties, entered into.

Alderman Henderson suggested referring the communication to H. E.

Beasley, superintendent of the E. & N. railway company, who had promised that the city would not be put to any expense. Alderman Henderson understood that the company had leased the land, and that the city, by the construction of the temporary right of way, would not be interfering with anyone. Messrs. Elliott & Shandley's request will be referred to Mr. Beasley.

Foreshore Rights.

Following the advice given by the city solicitors, the city will take steps to secure the foreshore rights at the various street ends abutting on the waterfront. The city engineer will be instructed to furnish the necessary plans, etc., and the council will then make application to the federal authorities for the rights to the foreshore. The city is now negotiating for rights to the foreshore at the ends of Discovery street, Johnson street, and Yates street, and, in conjunction with these other street ends, will be applied for, as well as the power to proceed with the filling in process on the foreshore between the northerly end of Bridge street and the westerly end of Ellis street.

The city engineer will report on the cost of constructing a sewer from the foot of Russell street to the water, and of opening up Russell street to the harbor.

COASTING LAWS DELAY PAVING

One Explanation of Failure in Delivery of Brick for Wharf Street Work

It requires something more than mere engineering knowledge, from the landman's standpoint to lay out a pavement in Victoria. Besides the technical knowledge relative to grades, levels, cement foundations and quality of material it would appear before a roadway here can be formally declared open to traffic elements of international law must enter. At least it looks that way in the instance of local improvement work now under way on Wharf street.

The city as well as the contractors who have the work in hand and Robert Ward & Co., who are agents for the Denny-Renton company of Seattle, which concern supplied the vitrified brick, doubtless had no idea that there would be a delay in the delivery of material consequent on a breach of the coasting regulations, but if report speaks truly such an untoward incident has occurred.

For some time past the contractors have been complaining of delay in the delivery of the bricks claiming that as a result the work of paving has been held up. At last night's meeting of the streets, bridges and sewers committee this question of delay was considered. Alderman Fullerton wanted to know why there is not a sufficient supply of brick on hand to permit the contractors going ahead with the work without interruption. He asked if there had been any contract entered into between the city and the Denny-Renton company for regular delivery.

Alderman Turner stated that no contract had been made. No other firm on the coast can supply the brick and the Denny-Renton company had been given the order. Just why the brick is not forthcoming he could not say.

Broke Marine Law.

Alderman Raymond stated that he had been informed that because of a breach of the regulations the delay had occurred. The boat used to tow the scows across to Seattle left at the latter part of last week to bring over a load. But it appears that the scow must, according to the United States regulations, have an American in command. Instead the mate of the tug, a British craft, was placed in charge of the scow and when the boat and scow arrived at Seattle the latter was seized and a fine of fifty cents per ton register levied. The scow registers 300 tons so a fine of $150 was levied. Alderman Raymond understood, however, that a scow load of bricks had been sent from Seattle but was held up at Port Townsend for the past three days owing to rough weather in the straits. Just as soon as possible this shipment will arrive here.

City Engineer Topp said the work of laying brick on the Causeway would start in a short time. It would require about 350,000 brick and if the brick were on hand the work could be rushed.

F. A. Fletcher, of the Robert Ward company, stated last evening that he had heard nothing of the scow being seized. Only rough weather had prevented the delivery of the scow load of bricks now at Port Townsend, and it was hoped to have the brick here in a day or two.

THE ISLAND'S PLACE

Let no one suppose for an instant that the Colonist has abandoned its hopes or intends to relax its efforts to have a railway constructed from Victoria to the north end of Vancouver Island, and connection made with a line on the Mainland at the most convenient point at or north of Seymour Narrows. These projects are just as much a part of the railway policy for which we are striving as they ever were; and if there had been the least probability that any company would enter into a contract to construct either of these lines, the Colonist would have urged government assistance with all the force at its command, and it is confident that it would not have failed. If it had failed, if the government had declined to give reasonable assistance to a responsible company or companies to build lines by such routes, the Colonist would have been called upon to give very serious consideration as to what position it ought to take under the circumstances. Such a contingency did not arise; but it was not our fault that a proposition to construct these lines was not made to the Government, for the Colonist exhausted every possible effort to persuade some responsible organization to make such a proposal. There were only four ways in which the desired trans-provincial line could be secured; that is, it would have to be built by the Canadian Pacific, the Canadian Northern, the Grand Trunk Pacific or by the Vancouver Island & Eastern Railway Company, to which the Dominion government has given a bonus for one hundred miles of railway.

The gentlemen, who own the charter for the last mentioned line, have never, as we understand the matter, displayed the slightest objection to handing it over to people who will build the road, and on the faith of this belief the Colonist has endeavored to interest capitalists in the undertaking. It has not wholly failed, for it knows of men of standing in the financial world, who, later, may take the matter up and investigate it from a business point of view; but we think we do no injustice to the owners of the charter when we say that there is no immediate prospect of a railway being built under it, even if provincial aid were forthcoming. The Canadian Pacific has officially announced that it does not intend for the present at least to build such a railway, or to undertake construction of a line to the northern end of the Island. The position of the Grand Trunk Pacific is well known. Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson made no concealment of the fact that the completion of the main line to Prince Rupert must be assured financially before the company undertakes any new and extensive flotation for railway construction in this province. The Grand Trunk Pacific Branch lines company has authority to build a line longitudinally through Vancouver Island, and has declared its intention of doing so; but it is not yet prepared to undertake it. It has authority to build a line from Port George to Vancouver and, we think, a line to Vancouver Island. If it has not the latter it can easily get it; but its plans, whatever they may include in the future, do not for the present embrace a second line across the province or a line on Vancouver Island. The Grand Trunk Pacific people had no proposals to make in that regard, although there is abundant reason for believing that they endeavored to get ahead of the Canadian Northern in securing the route, which that company has chosen. Under these circumstances there remained only the Canadian Northern to be considered. That company was unwilling to build lines now by the routes suggested above, and Mr. D. D. Mann frankly gave his reasons for declining to do so at present. He said that the question of gradients was the controlling factor in his company's decision. He appreciated the wonderful resources of Vancouver Island. He knows the advantages of what we may for convenience call the Butte Inlet route. He and Mr. Mackenzie have been considering the question of railway transportation across the province for at least ten years. But the Canadian Northern is one of three railways that, when completed, will be transcontinental. It was, therefore, sound business policy on the part of its management to secure the best possible alignment for a railway from the Prairies to the Coast. This led to the selection of the route to which the provincial subsidy applies. Before accepting the company's proposals the government stipulated for the construction of the railway from this city to Barkley Sound, a line, which the people of Victoria unanimously favored.

Under these circumstances there seemed to be only one course open to those who favored the immediate beginning of active railway construction that would lead to the development of Vancouver Island, and that was to accept a policy that would secure a part of what the Island needs, rather than hang up a lot of promises in the air, which might or might not be taken by any one for years to come. Therefore, the Colonist gave, as it thinks, the very great majority of the people of Victoria and Vancouver Island will give, the proposal of the Canadian Northern its unqualified support.

We have given this review of the incidents leading up to the policy which the Colonist is supporting, because we think the public ought to understand how idle it is for any one to pretend that the government was in a position to secure the construction of any other railway at the present time, seeing that no one is ready to build any other line, and also for the purpose of saying that the claims of the Island for railway development have been by no means exhausted by what the Canadian Northern has contracted to do. No one understands this better than Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann. No one appreciates it any better than Mr. McBride. The most that any one claims is that it is a highly important beginning of a highly important work, but a beginning of vast intrinsic importance. Why we so characterize it we shall endeavor to set out as briefly as possible.

The people of Victoria have looked forward to two things, which they believed would increase the wealth and importance of their city as a commercial centre. One of these was the development of Vancouver Island by railway construction. The other was a direct transcontinental connection. Both of these are secured by the Canadian Northern contract.

First as to the development of the Island. Vancouver Island, considered from a transportation point of view may be divided into three parts, longitudinally, namely, the East Coast, the West Coast and the Centre. The East Coast is served to some extent by the E. & N. Railway and by steamers. In the trade there developed the city of Vancouver is a powerful competitor. Many Island points on the East Coast being more convenient to the mainland city than to Victoria. The Centre is yet without facilities for transportation, although the Cowichan branch and the Alberni extension of the E. & N. will provide for the southern portion of it. The West Coast is served only by steamers, but no steamer could possibly handle the class of traffic to be built up there, and for the first hundred miles of the Coast a steamer could only develop a very meagre traffic of any kind. The construction of the Alberni extension means that a new route will be found for the trade of the West Coast, and when it is built Vancouver will be nearer Alberni than Victoria is from the standpoint of transportation, unless a new way is provided. There is a probability that the West Coast will be to some extent exploited by Vancouver, by this route, and there was a certainty that it will send nearly all its business to that city if Victoria is not afforded better connection. It would be the interest of the Canadian Pacific to handle as much as possible of that business from Vancouver. This is no new contention on the part of the Colonist, for we advanced it months ago when supporting the proposal to build a railway to Barkley Sound, which was at a time when neither the provincial government nor the Canadian Northern had, so far as we have any reason to suppose, the slightest intention of including it in a railway policy. The Barkley Sound railway will develop the West Coast and develop it especially to the advantage of Victoria. It will open the hundred miles of country between Esquimalt and the Sound, with its vast forests, its extensive mineral wealth and its fertile land. This could not be accomplished from the sea as every one knows. It will give Victoria the shortest and quickest possible connection with all West Coast points along a distance of nearly three hundred miles. A train from Victoria will land a passenger at Barkley Sound about as quick as a steamer can land one from Vancouver at Nanaimo or Nanose. If with this advantage the business men of Victoria cannot control the great business that will be developed along that three hundred miles of resource-rich coast, they will be lacking in that enterprise for which they have a reputation. It would make this article too long to do more than mention the impetus to business of all kinds that will be given when once the great resources of the West Coast are turned to account. That may be spoken of again, and for the present we shall only say that by securing the construction of the line to Barkley Sound, which is to be begun and carried out simultaneously with the mainland line of the Canadian Northern, Mr. McBride has secured for Victoria what will be an advantage of enormous value.

The proposed railway from Barkley Sound to Yellow Head Pass will afford Victoria the advantages of transcontinental connection in the highest degree. The necessity of transporting cars across water on a ferry is not an obstacle to such a connection. In saying this we are on ground that we have always occupied. We know the objection which some people make to car ferries. They say the ferry has to carry too much dead weight. The answer to this was given to the Colonist by the General Manager of the Pere Marquette railway some years ago, when this paper was investigating the subject. He said that there was no capital outlay for permanent way and no charge for keeping it in repair. This more than offsets the supposed cost of carrying dead weight. He said that the charge for carrying freight 75 miles across Lake Michigan in the car ferry Pere Marquette, a fine steel ship which takes 32 loaded cars at a time, and can steam at 14 knots with them, was 25 cents per ton, and that, if full loads were assured both ways and the ferry could be kept in continuous operation, the transportation could be done at a profit for 10 cents a ton. Lake Michigan, is of course, not navigable all the year round, and its navigation is not nearly as safe as that of the Gulf of Georgia. Under these circumstances we assert without fear of contradiction from any railway man, who has ever investigated the question of car ferries, that freight can be carried as cheaply across Georgian Bay on a car ferry as it could be on rails, if there were a continuous land stretch between those points, taking into account the interest on the cost of construction and the charges of maintenance. Therefore we claim now, as we have always claimed, that the railway company, which gives Victoria first-class modern car ferry connection with a railway on the Mainland, will make this city in the fullest sense of the word the terminus of a transcontinental railway. We grant, however, that more than a car ferry is necessary, more than a contract solemnly set out in an Act of the Legislature. There must be business to be done. Whence comes the business that makes Vancouver a transcontinental terminus worthy of the slightest consideration? What has made that city grow until it is one of the wonders of the Twentieth Century? The business does not originate in Vancouver itself. The cause cannot be found around the shores of Burrard Inlet. That city has grown because her enterprising people have assembled there the raw products of a large area, a part of which is more than a hundred miles away. The lumber trade of Vancouver is the secret of that city's amazing growth and prosperity. It is the carrying of lumber east which makes the carrying of wheat west possible. Apply this reasoning to Victoria. Lying not a hundred and more miles away from this city, but beginning right at its doors and extending for a hundred miles is a body of timber that would keep all the saw mills of Vancouver in operation for a century to come. This timber will be along the line of the Canadian Northern. It will be the interest of that company to exploit that timber, because by so doing it will develop its third business and make its transcontinental road pay. The supplies used in procuring and manufacturing this timber will be bought in Victoria; the timber itself, when manufactured, will be shipped eastward over the Canadian Northern and if we claim that there will be a repetition of the experience of Vancouver and that the cars which take the timber one way will carry wheat the other, we do not think any one will dispute the proposition. Therefore the contract with the Canadian Northern will provide Victoria with the facilities appertaining to the ocean terminal of a transcontinental line.

As we have already said, in neither of the contentions above made is this paper taking any new ground. We have only repeated what we have said over and over again, when there was no railway policy before the people and no election pending. We stand just where we have always stood. We advance statements that we have advanced before and the correctness of which has never been challenged.

The opponents of the Government are coming to the ground between two stools. They are trying to make people believe that the Canadian Northern contract will never be carried out, and they assert that Messrs. Fulton and Tatlow have resigned because they would not stand for a contract that will be so burdensome upon the province. It is impossible that they can be right both ways.

ABOUT A RESOLUTION.

An evening paper attempts to make a great deal of capital out of a resolution adopted by a meeting at Nanaimo. That resolution, after reciting a number of facts, was as follows:

Therefore, be it resolved: That we, the officers and members of the Vancouver Island Development League, pledge ourselves to aid, encourage, and bring about the building and construction of railways on Vancouver Island, not only on the east coast and west coast, but through the centre of the island, and wherever else necessary, including the construction of car ferries, connecting the island with the Mainland, in order that the vast resources of the island may no longer be comparatively idle.

And be it further resolved: That we call on all public spirited citizens on Vancouver Island, whether in or out of the league, and whether holding public office or in private life, to lend their support to this vital movement for the betterment of the Island;

And be it further resolved: That any policy of railway aid to a transcontinental road that may be adopted by the provincial government will not be satisfactory to the people of Vancouver Island which does not provide for railway construction on Vancouver Island and connecting with the Mainland as an integral part of such transcontinental road.

Canadians in Cuba
TORONTO, Oct. 22.—G. F. Davis, manager of the Canada-Cuba Land & Fruit company, in an interview here declared that there was no truth in the report that Canadians were being arrested in Cuba for non-payment of taxes. The company's estate, he explained, is a very large one and a small portion of it, not more than one-sixteenth, is claimed by the two municipalities of Mantua and Guane. The company is at present in communication with them for the purpose of deciding definitely to which one the taxes of settlers shall be paid. Only a few purchasers are located in disputed district.

Sutherland Elevated.
OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—It is understood that Hon. R. E. Sutherland, former speaker of the commons, will be gazetted in a few days as judge of the High Court of Ontario in the place of Justice Anglin, who was elevated to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Burned to Death
EDMONTON, Oct. 22.—Fears are entertained that Robert McIntyre and his mother were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their dwelling last night at Calabogie. They cannot be found and a skull uncovered in the ruins suggests that they were suffocated before they could make their escape.

Opening for Canadians
OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 22.—Canadian Trade Commissioner Harris, in Japan, reports to the trade and commerce department that the next Japanese budget will provide for an expenditure of $20,000,000 on Government railways. Condemns Trial by Jury
TORONTO, Oct. 22.—The grand jury today in its presentation to Mr. Justice Macge, said in part: "We recommend that consideration be given to abolishing of trial by jury of cases where capital punishment might apply, in order that the evidence might be weighed by those most capable of judging of the guilt or otherwise of the accused, thus furthering the proper ends of justice."

Expects Larger Traffic
CALGARY, Alta., Oct. 22.—General Passenger Agent C. E. McPherson, of the Canadian Pacific, reached the city last evening from Winnipeg. He expressed the belief that passenger traffic will be much larger next year than this. Good crops harvested this year are having the tendency of bringing more people to the district. Commenting upon traffic handled by the company in connection with the Seattle exposition he stated that the number taking advantage of the Canadian route is much in excess of sixty per cent of total traffic from the east.

Tariff on Agricultural Products
OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 22.—W. O. Sealey, Liberal M.P. for Wentworth, who is in the city, is urging an increase in the tariff on agricultural products. He argues that protection should be extended to farmers as well as manufacturers and quotes statistics to show that in the quantity of Canadian exports, from United States in agriculture products, the United States has by far the long end of the business. Mr. Sealey wants the government to put up the tariff on butter, cheese, pork, eggs, hay and horses.

New Trial for Blythe
TORONTO, Oct. 22.—The new trial of Walter Blythe, of Agincourt, commenced here this morning before Mr. Justice McGee, murder, being the charge. Blythe beat his wife to death after a long series of cruelties practiced on her in January last. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged, was twice respited by Dominion government, and finally the court of appeals granted him a new trial on technical grounds, the chief point being that Justice Riddell, who heard the case, had not in his address to the jury referred to the question of whether the man was drunk when he committed the crime and the action the jury might have taken if convinced he was drunk.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Acknowledges Donations.

The W. C. T. U. home committee gratefully acknowledge donations from the following: Mrs. Spencer, Mrs.
Frank Grant, Mrs. Gould, Mrs. Day,
Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Cooper, A Friend.

Ladies of Maccabees.

The fish pond and social evening planned by Baxter Hive, No. 8 L. O.
T. M. for Tuesday, November 2
has been postponed to Tuesday,
7th. Members and friends will please bear this in mind.

Take Out Building Permits.

Building permits were issued yesterday by the building inspector to Mrs.
T. Tye for additions to her dwelling on Douglas street, to cost $1,000, and to A. Hesson for a dwelling on Bay street, to cost $1,500.

Youngsters Cause Trouble.

Complaints of the antics of boys have been made to the police by residents on Jubilee avenue. A gang of juveniles has been spending evenings lately by ringing door bells, and hurling rocks at front doors.

Extend Surface Drainage.

Work has commenced on the big surface drain to be laid on Fernwood road. A large gang of men has been employed, and the work will be rushed to completion before the rainy season sets in. As a result of the work,
Cedar Hill road, leading into Fernwood road, has been closed to traffic.

Better Late Than Never.

At last it looks as if Alderman Humber's wish with respect to the bridge on Gorge road will be met. After making a brave start on the work of filling in the old bridge, a work which was commenced last April, only after Alderman Humber had, after repeated requests, succeeded in getting the council to appropriate the necessary funds for the undertaking, the work was discontinued, but recently it has been resumed, and the city engineer is now busy having the balance of the filling in done. He expects to have the job completed in about two weeks time.

The Climax

"The Climax" came highly recommended, and not by advance notices alone. Two of the advance agents of other attractions stated that taking it all in all, it was the best dramatic production that would be presented to the people of Victoria this season. The fulfillment has borne out the promise.
"The Climax" is in every way a delightful comedy-drama. At times it is intense, at times it is amusing, but never for a single moment is it dull or offensive. As a piece of dramatic art, Mr. Walter Wilson's rendition of the role of Luigi Golfanti, the old music teacher, is as complete as can well be imagined. It is so wholly admirable that in watching the play of his features one forgets that he is assuming a role. Mr. Albert Latscha as Piero Golfanti exhibits another type, that of a crude passionate youth. He also is intensely real. Mr. Edwin August as Dr. John Raymond is quiet, reserved and strong, but illustrates in voice and manner the man brought up in a small country town with narrow views of life. Miss Ruby Bridges is the lady in the caste, which consists of four people only. She is a delicious actress as bright as can be desired, possessed of a very pleasing voice, which shows capital training. She presents a rare combination of qualities in the very unusual part that she has to play.

"The Climax" will be repeated tonight and all people who delight in a clean, wholesome, amusing and yet thrilling drama, presented by artists of exceptional power, should hear it.

FALLS INTO TRENCH

Mrs. Ager Has Narrow Escape From Injury in Big Drain on Cook Street

Falling into the trench made for the Cook street surface drain, at a point just south of the junction of Cook street and Pakington street, Mrs.
Ager had a narrow escape from serious injury on Wednesday night, about nine o'clock. That she was not injured to any extent was due to the fact that the mud at the bottom of the trench was soft. Beyond a shaking up and a few bruises Mrs. Ager escaped uninjured. She was on her way home on a Cook street car. At Pakington street she alighted, and started to walk along the railway track, when a car approaching from an opposite direction forced her to step off the track.
It was quite dark at this point, and she did not see that alongside the rails was a big trench, ten feet deep,
in which the surface drain will be laid.
She stepped directly into the trench,
and was precipitated to the bottom.
Her cries were heard by the motor-man on the car, and with the assistance of the conductor, Mrs. Ager was extricated. She was able to proceed home, little the worse of her experience.

CRISIS OVER BRITISH BUDGET

Rev. A. J. Stanley Ard Gathers Interesting Impressions
in Old Country

After picking up a large amount of valuable information on the present political situation in the Old Land, and spending an enjoyable four months' holiday in London, Tunbridge Wells (his former home), and in the north of Ireland, the Rev. A. J. Stanley Ard has returned to the city refreshed in health and ready to throw himself into his church work with renewed vigor.

Of the political crisis caused by the introduction of the Liberal and so-called Socialist budget, Mr. Ard has formed some interesting impressions. "The political situation in England," he says, "is very serious. It is really a question between individualism on the one hand and the protection of capital on the other. Since the introduction of the budget millions sterling have been withdrawn from the country and invested abroad."

"It is exceedingly hard to make the working classes see that if taxation is so increased capitalists will not leave their money in the country to be taxed. Land at the present moment is shunned by everyone for investment purposes. There is a growing feeling in industrial centres in favor of protective tariffs. There can be little doubt that the tariff reform party now stands a good chance of large majorities at the next elections. Even Free Trade Manchester seems to be coming over to think tariff reform."

"Mr. Balfour put the whole question in a nutshell when he said that it was not a question of whether the people would have the old policy on which the country was built up, or a new policy, but a question of whether they would choose a new policy of socialism on the one hand or of protected industries on the other."

Lords and Budget

"It is expected in England that the Lords will arrive at their conclusion with regard to the budget about the middle of November, and that they will not attempt to directly reject the budget, but will pass a resolution to the effect that, owing to its revolutionary character, they cannot further consider it until the opinion of the people has been taken. In this way the Lords will appear, not as against the people but rather as a question, and they will allow no handle to the Liberal party in the cry 'down with the Lords.' It is generally believed that the general election will take place in January."

"Poverty in England," continued Mr. Ard, "has greatly increased since my last visit seven years ago. It is stated that there will be 20,000 more unemployed in London this winter than last. This is not to be wondered at when almost every article used in the houses of the middle and lower classes are of foreign manufacture, and until the industries of England are protected this state of affairs will naturally continue."

"In Ireland the linen trade, after a great depression, is beginning to show signs of fresh life, and many of the mills in Belfast which have been closed up for over twelve months are now being operated again. The flax used in the manufacture of Belfast linen is largely Russian and Belgian flax, being the most expensive used for the production of fine damask. There seems to be a desire among linen manufacturers for experimental flax production within the British Empire. There is no doubt that before many years have passed representations to this effect will be made to the different governments of the dominions beyond the seas."

Make Study of Canada
"I have come home fully convinced that the greatest future in all the British possessions lies in the Dominion of Canada. This is also recognized to a very large extent by the people of England. Where seven years ago one heard practically nothing about the Dominion, today it is known and studied by a majority of the people in the Old Land. This is perhaps due to the meetings and lectures which have been given throughout England by Archdeacon Lloyd, of Saskatchewan, and also to the lectures by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel."

"Speaking of municipal affairs I was very much struck with the simple manner in which the main trunk roads were kept throughout England. When a good macadamized road was made, liquid tar was swept over it. This is done once a year, and is found cheaper than water. There is practically no dust, and autos and other vehicles can ply these roads without the usual dust accompaniments in summer."

"Travelling across the Atlantic today is a very different thing from even seven years ago. I crossed to England on the S. S. Mauretania last June on the first record-breaking east-bound voyage of that magnificent liner. She completed the distance from Sandy Hook in four days, fourteen hours and ten minutes. Aboard, the first class passengers felt no vibration. The vibration, however, was felt very badly among the second class passengers. No doubt before very long the discomforts caused by the turbine system will be overcome. I returned to Canada in the White Star-Dominion liner Mauretania, and was very pleased with all the arrangements, especially by the civility shown by the staff aboard."

Railway Travel

"Referring to the transcontinental journey the C. P. R. have made great improvements in their observation cars, which are after the pattern of those used on the Northern Pacific Express. My journey to New York in June was made by the North Coast Limited, and I must say as far as Chicago I could have wished for nothing better than the accommodations and speed of that train. The scenery, however, is not to be compared with that along the Canadian Pacific, and in the agricultural parts of the United States I saw nothing to touch the fertile lands of the Canadian Northwest."

Mr. Ard states that on his return he finds all matters connected with St. John's church in a very flourishing condition. Next year is the jubilee anniversary of the church, and he hopes that it will be celebrated by the erection of a new structure, in keeping with the many other permanent buildings now going up in Victoria.

TROUBLE OVER WIRES

City and Telephone Company Arrive at Amicable Arrangements as to Underground Wires

In all likelihood the city and the B. C. Telephone company will arrive at an amicable arrangement relative to the running of the city's electric light wires into the manholes at either end of the Causeway subway. The city constructed the subway after the company had signified its willingness to use it for the purposes of holding the telephone wires along with the city electric light wires. The subway was made large enough so that no danger would result from the juxtaposition of the high and low tension wires, but when the city came to string its electric light wires into the manholes, the company objected, claiming that owing to the small amount of space in the man holes, its workmen would be subjected to danger if the electric light wires also entered. As that was the only method by which the city's wires could enter the subway, the latter would be useless so far as the city was concerned, unless the wires could be run into the manholes.

The matter has been referred to the Vancouver office of the telephone company, but in the meantime the city is going ahead with the laying of the necessary conduits leading into the manholes. The electric light wires, where they enter the manholes will be protected by strong wire netting, so that it will be impossible for a man working in the man hole to come in contact with the high power wires.

LAW STUDENTS' SOCIETY

Annual General Meeting of Society to Be Held Tuesday.

The Law Students' Society of Victoria will hold its annual general meeting next Tuesday evening at the offices of Messrs. McPhillips and Davie, when the officers for the coming year will be elected, meetings arranged, and other business discussed.

It is understood that the president, W. R. Vaughn, and the secretary-treasurer, J. E. Sears, will not stand again for re-election, and new blood will be introduced into the managing committee. The society has passed a very successful season, and the students gained valuable information in the law debates which were held, and which were judged by local barristers.

Last April a debate was held in Seattle against the University of Washington, when David S. Tait and J. Edw. Sears represented the society and gained the unanimous decision of the judges. Afterwards the university authorities stated that although they had been defeated they were not dishonored, as their representatives were up against two of the cleverest debaters who had ever visited the city. The Victoria students also on two occasions, sent representatives to Vancouver, who successfully upheld the prestige of the society. It is proposed this year to continue the fortnightly moot courts, and to hold one or two public debates in Victoria against Washington University or the Vancouver Law Students' Society.

to Be Elaborate Affair

Thanksgiving evening the J. B. A. Rugby Football club will hold their opening dance of the year, and it will be the first big social event of the winter season.

The Broad street hall will be the scene of the dance, and as it is entirely new and thrown open to the public for the first time by the J. B. A. A. followers, a record crowd should be on hand.

The Heater-Bantly orchestra will supply the music, and that is enough to say that the music will be of the best.

The committee that has charge of the affair follows: Leo Sweeney, A. Jeffs, Phil Austin, John P. Sweeney, S. Winsby, W. Newcombe, Jack McTavish, and Vincent K. Gray.

The McGill University Rugby players will be the guests of the local club at the dance, and as they are to play Rugby on the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day, they will no doubt appreciate the function which the J. B. A. A. are getting up.

Following is the programme for the evening's entertainment:

Here and There

There has come about, of late years, a great change in the attitude of most communities towards the law-breaker. It is believed that it is not only necessary for the protection of society that he shall be punished but that he shall be reformed. With this belief has followed the conviction that the man or woman who has committed a crime is not for that reason to be shut out from the sympathy and help of their fellow-mortals. In England, in Canada, and in the United States there have been great changes in the discipline of some of the prisons. An experiment is now being tried in the New South Wales in which an attempt is being made to bring back not only those who have been committed to prison for the first time to the ranks of honest labor but to reform the confirmed criminal.

The report of the comptroller of prisons shows that the experiment has been sufficiently successful to justify its continuance. It is called the progressive stage system and under it the punishment is divided into three periods. At first the sentence of imprisonment with hard labor is carried out in the ordinary way. If the convict shows by his conduct that he wishes to lead a better life he is removed to a department where confinement is less strict and though he is obliged to work it is no longer under severe restraint. If he shows himself worthy of the degree of liberty that has been given him he is released on parole. If his conduct is not satisfactory he must be again subjected to the ordinary prison discipline. Work is found for those on parole so that by the time they are free they will be under a little disadvantage, as possible. This is the plan adopted with all women and with men under twenty-five years of age.

In the case of old offenders a different method is adopted. The prisoner must serve out his full sentence. Then he is placed on probation. He is paid for his work and discipline is somewhat relaxed. In this way the authorities hope to discover whether it is safe to allow him to mingle again with his fellow beings. There has not yet been time to learn whether any large proportion of those who have become habitual criminals are capable of reformation.

The characters of the population of this Australian state has changed greatly within the past generation. Thirty years ago there was one prisoner for every 355 inhabitants. Now there is one for every 1,070. That with a great increase in population there should be so marked a decrease in the proportion of criminals is a matter for congratulation.

A most interesting experiment in the reform of boys who have committed offences against the law is being tried near Montreal. It was found that the majority at Shawville, which children of Protestant parents were sent on conviction of crime was not accomplishing the purpose for which it was established. Boys sent there grew worse instead of better, and the magistrates, rather than send them to the reform school, ran the risk of releasing them. To put a stop to this state of affairs a number of philanthropic gentlemen purchased a farm at Shawbridge, in the neighborhood of the city. The government of the province contributed a sum towards the maintenance of the boys but left the management of the farm with the board, which raised money by subscription from benevolent citizens. When six months ago, the farm opened, the boys were ready to go to work upon it. Now there are forty lads at Shawbridge. Of the whole number committed all but one are apparently preparing for a life of usefulness.

Some of these boys are earning their living in the city, only returning to the home at night, the manager and his wife taking the place of their parents. But the greater number are happily employed upon the farm or are at work with the carpenter on the buildings which are being erected. All have been formed into a cadet company and take great delight in their drill and in the smart appearance they present in their uniforms. The boys are said to show by their appearance and demeanor that they have regained their self-respect and that they love and trust those to whose care they have been committed.

It is costing a great deal to make the farm as perfect in equipment as it is felt to be necessary, but money and labor are being poured into useful citizens is well invested.

But to make such experiments as those being carried on in New South Wales and in Montreal, successful far more than money is needed. The wardens of such reformatories must be men and women who are ready to give their lives for the uplifting of their fellows. It is much harder to secure, in such a cause, men and women who have the love and faith needed for such work than to raise the money required.

A number of the McGill students have followed the example of those in older universities and engaged in settlement work. While all must be glad that young men and women who enjoy the advantages which the university affords, are anxious to help in such work, it cannot but be a matter of regret that it is needed in a Canadian city. Is it inevitable that the poor, the ignorant and the wicked of all cities? There are those who hope that the time may come when slums shall no longer disfigure our cities and shame our civilization.

In a speech at Toronto the other day Senator Ross deplored the fact that in the Canadian parliament there are some who would say that this fact proves that men who are self-educated have more strength of character and more power of leadership than is found among men who have spent many years of their lives in the schools. It is not also shown that among men best fitted for public life there is a reluctance to face its discomforts and difficulties? It is constantly said when the time comes for choosing men to serve either in provincial or federal parliament, that the best men will not come out. If this is true it shows that there is a want of public spirit among our people. That they prefer their own ease and their private advancement to the public good. When the matter is considered in this way, the country needs men who will serve the public good, and who are willing to use their talents for the public good we may expect a new era in politics. But there is much to be done in the homes and in the schools before a generation will grow up who will consider that the country needs men who will serve the public good, and who are willing to use their talents for the public good.

Good Ventilation

Practically, we must judge fresh air like the classic "handsome," not so much by what it is as by what it does. If it makes those who breathe it under normal conditions feel fresh, it is fresh. If it doesn't, it isn't. We must always remember that we are not ventilating rooms, but people.

This is no reflection on the inventors of systems of ventilation. On the contrary, it is a frank confession of our ignorance as hygienists, as to exactly what constitutes "pure air," or to put it more precisely, what the elements are which render air impure or unfit for breathing. The better class of inventors and engineers, by fans, forced draught, and suction, have delivered the "language of the day," according to our specifications.

We were even more disappointed than they to find that they did not fill the bill. But an "honest confession" is exceedingly "good for the soul," and our comparative failure in our more ambitious efforts has led us to re-examine more carefully and radically what are the qualities which we wish to secure and what are those which we wish to avoid in good air for breathing purposes. In other words, what is really fresh air?

Strange as it may seem, this practical failure of our most elaborate and scientific attempts at ventilation, while theoretically discouraging, is really just the contrary, from a practical point of view. In short, it has led us to define "fresh air" as a working concept, as air which is simply what its name implies, fresh from outdoors. Wherever you get this into a room, you get good "lung food." Wherever you don't—poor "lung food."

In other words, the simple, everyday method of ventilating, which is within reach of nine per cent. of us day and night, through open windows and doors, is the one that gives not only the best, but the only satisfactory results. It requires constant and intelligent attention. It must be, as the artist Turner said of his color, "mixed and blended." But that is one of its advantages.—Dr. Woods Hutchinson, in the November Outlook.

Jessie.

True-hearted was he, the sad swain of the Yarrow,
And fair are the maids on the banks of the Ayr;
But by the sweet side o' Nith's winding river,
Are lovers as faithful and maidens as fair.

To equal young Jessie, seek Scotland all over;
To equal young Jessie you seek it in vain.
Grace, beauty and elegance fetter her lover,
And a modestly modesty fixes the chain.

Oh, fresh is the rose in the gay, dewy morning,
And sweet is the lily at evening's close,
But in the fair presence o' lovely young Jessie,
Unseen is the lily, unheeded the rose.

Love sits in her smile, a wizard ensnaring,
Enthroned in her e'en she delivers his law,
And still to her charms she alone is a stranger!
Her modest demeanour's the jewel o' them a'.

—Burns.

Printer's Errors.

One of the most utterly ridiculous printer's errors I ever saw or heard of occurred recently. A prominent clergyman, speaking about the number of deaths from tuberculosis, impassionately asked "Why is this dreadful mortality? Cannot it be prevented?" So much can an omitted "u" bring about!

Everyone knows the story about the "bottle-scared veteran," and the latter correction to "battle-scared veteran," but here are some new stories of printer's errors from T. P.'s Weekly.

A certain great authority on Jerusalem was in the habit of contracting the name of the city in his MS. to "Jerus." In one of his books upon the subject he described the sensations which attended his approach to the famous city. After reaching the summit of a hill, "the glorious panorama of Jerusalem," he wrote, "was spread before us." Owing to the usual contraction the genial compositor reared this "the glorious panorama of Jones was spread before us." A misprint which will always bear repetition is that concerned with the sailor's wife who wished it to be announced: "A sailor going to sea, his wife desires the prayers of the congregation." This got itself rendered into: "A sailor going to see his wife desires the prayers of the congregation." Before we condemn the compositor who perpetrated this, however, we must bear in mind the possible nature of his own domestic relations. Another excellent one is that of the editor who wrote: "When Mrs. Jones lectured on 'Dress' she wore nothing that was remarkable." How the compositor came to the conclusion that this should read: "When Mrs. Jones lectured on 'Dress' she wore nothing. That was remarkable" is a mystery.

Homelike Schools.

In no sense can the teacher assume the position given her by the school law of loco parentis with more effect, than by creating in her school an atmosphere of home life. The law contemplates that her influence shall be "that of a kind, firm, judicious parent in the management of his children." But those teachers, who have the best home life in their schools have had no regard to the stipulations of the law, but out of a good heart have brought forth fruit with patience. Home life is not made up of material possessions in the school any more than in the home, but is to be found in the happy relations existing between the teacher and her pupils. In a school where the true home life exists, many harsh practices are unknown, nay, the teacher must learn to use them—co-operation is the key note and loyalty the principle on which such home life depends, and there is no home influence in the school where these are not found.

The Last Days.

Ah, dearest, these are the last, last days,
Their moments swiftly run;
The hills are lost in purple haze,
We scarce can see the sun;
With drooping wings, through endless space,

Our silent illusions flee,
And silence comes, with sacred face,
And stares at you and me.

Ah, Love, my Love, in last, last days,
How sweet the roses seem;
While yet a little light delays,
Back comes the morning dream.
In tents of peace, with perfect trust
That youth may never know;
Though half our idols lie in dust,
Home and the heart can grow!

NELSON AND WOLGAST SIGN

Battler and Man Who Recently Outpointed Him Matched for 45-round Fight

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Oct. 22.—Battling Nelson and Ad. Wolgast were matched today to fight forty-five rounds for the world's lightweight championship in this city Thanksgiving day. The fight is to take place before the Pacific Athletic club, and a new arena outside the city limits will be built for the affair, unless arrangements are made to use the arena of the defunct Jeffries Athletic club at Vernon.

The men agree to make 135 pounds ringside. A purse of $12,500 is to be hung up. The title is now held by Nelson, and will go with the decision in the coming fight.

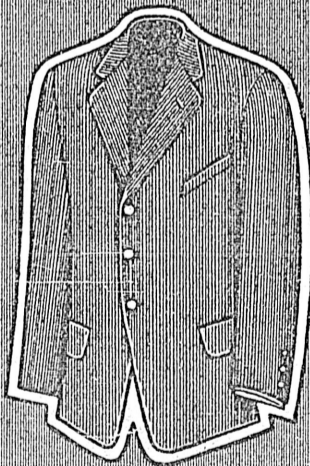

Acceptance of the terms from both of the men was received today by Tom McCarey, manager of the Pacific Athletic club.

Nelson and Wolgast met several months ago at Los Angeles in a ten-round bout. Wolgast outpointed the champion. Nelson freely admitted that he could not do anything with his opponent in a short bout, and the outcome is one of a Marathon character.

BLACKPOOL, Oct. 22.—Henry Farman has been awarded the grand prize of $10,000 for the longest flight at the aviation meeting here. He covered 47 miles yesterday in his best attempt. Rougier was second and Paulham third.

Was Rough Going.

Young Loughrey's rough tactics in a six-round bout with Johnny Krause in Philadelphia caused a riot among the spectators, who threw bottles, cushions, and other missiles into the ring. Loughrey had a shade on Krause at the end; but he had to be escorted to a car to save him from the mob.

Smoke Pinched Again.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Not content with having a legal run-in yesterday over a debt of $100, Jack Johnson, the black pugilist, had a double bout with the law today, and if he doesn't get out of town pretty soon he stands a mighty good chance of going to jail.

Early this morning Johnson was arrested for exceeding the speed limit, and appeared in Judge Weller's court, but the case went over until tomorrow, the negro putting up $100 bail.

A few minutes later, while thousands were waiting for the great Portola parade, Johnson sprinted away down Market street in his big machine, but was held up at 7th by two policemen. He was informed that he would have to turn back. He at first refused, declaring he didn't care a rap about Portola, the police, or anything else. He cooled down, however, when threatened with arrest, and turned back, amid the jeers of the crowds. The district attorney declares he will recommend a jail sentence for Johnson.

HAMBURG BELLE'S TRAINERS YOUNG

Boys of Eleven and Thirteen Sold Famous Trotter for $50,000

The delicate touch of a woman's hand that first guided the young belle (2:00 1/2), the present queen of the trotting turf, and that two boys of 11 and 13 years of age should become at once the youngest firm of harness horse breeders in the world, and the first to sell a trotting mare for the record price of $50,000, are two of the remarkable features connected with the career of the most sensational performer on the turf today.

Leonard and Joseph Madden, who owned the mare when she made her latest records, are the sons of John E. Madden, one of the best known breeders of thoroughbreds in America. Hamburg Belle was the greatest horse the senior Madden ever owned, but among the others which he developed were Castaway II, Harry Reed, Irish Lad, Blue Girl, Endurance, Right, Hand-spring, Adoration, Klumdrack, Yankee Prince of Melbourne, Klumdrack, Bally-hoo Boy, Conville, Fayette, Sir Martin, King James and the great Salvadore, which Madden once said was the equal of Hamburg.

Hamburg Belle already holds these five most remarkable world's records: The fastest heat ever trotted in a race, 2:01 1/4.

The fastest two heats ever trotted in a race, 2:01 1/4, 2:01 1/4.

The fastest three heats ever trotted in a race, 2:03, 2:06, 2:04 1/4.

The fastest third heat ever trotted in a race, (a tie with Jack Reburn), 2:04 1/4.

The fastest heat over a half-mile track in a race by a five-year-old mare, 2:12 1/4.

It was Miss Emily Bedford, a well-known driver of horses in the show ring, who received Hamburg Belle as a gift from her father, E. T. Bedford, of Hamburg Place, Kentucky. This was seven years ago. As the mare began to come to maturity Miss Bedford saw that she had unusual speed, and she was sold as a five-year-old to the Madden boys, who in turn placed the mare in charge of Trainer W. J. Andrews. The early name of the mare was Sally Simmons II.

When the mare recently defeated Uhlman, gaining the records of 2:01 1/4 and 2:01 1/4 in two consecutive heats, she was sold to H. M. Hanna of Cleveland for $50,000.

Three harness horses of either sex have been sold for more than $50,000, the exceptions being: Arion, $125,000; Axtell, $105,000, and Dan Patch, $60,000. J. Malcolm Forbes paid $40,000 for Nancy Hanks (2:04).

Which was the same price Robert Beach paid for Maud S., although times were even much flusher than they are today.

RUGBY, ENGLAND'S GREAT GAME

Soccer Now Given Over to Professionals—Enthusiasm Over Rugger

Rugby is the great Amateur sport of England—soccer having been completely given over to professionalism, and great enthusiasm is being displayed in the season just opened. The London Morning Post in a lengthy editorial on English football says: Everyone who has played Rugby knows the excitement and tension of the last ten minutes, when superior weight and strength has worn down the player can fully appreciate the game, and it is that fact, perhaps, which tends to keep it in its place. A crowd watching Rugby football throw themselves into the game because they know it. A fine game is the thing; the score and the result are less important than in any other sport.

Rugby will always remain the best training for many qualities, for ever professionalism invades the game its doom is sealed. No one can play Rugby football as a livelihood. This fresh atmosphere is a welcome relief after the dismal and depressing squabbles which have disgraced the opening of the Association football season; yet to a vast majority of Englishmen it is Association professionals not Rugby amateurs who represent the footballer. This year at last Association football has achieved the goal to which it has long been steering and with the organization of a trades union among the players the last rag of pretence has been torn off. The football ground is on the level with the music-hall stage, neither better nor worse. To watch a football match may be an admirable method of spending an afternoon for those whose ordinary work provides sufficient physical exercise; but by no stretch of imagination can it be supposed to be training for endurance, energy, or pluck.

An Analysis

The extraordinary enthusiasm which the English throw into sport is the natural outcome of the fighting qualities for which the race has never yet been deficient; but the complacency with which that absorption of national interest is accepted springs from the fact that sport still means in common speech some personal exertion and enterprise. When the fact that for the great majority today the exertion and the enterprise are applauded in others not experienced in person is considered, the national tendency to think in terms of games is less acceptable. Because, after all, the number of things in which a man can interest himself is strictly limited. Work ever more exacting leaves little spare vitality, and the absorption in the interest precludes others. A man who plays games himself is equipping his body and acquiring qualities of the highest value, which are afterwards of enormous utility in more serious pursuits. A man who only watches others play and makes that his greatest interest is shutting out other things altogether. The difficulty of inducing men to take a serious interest in the future of the nation is greatly increased by the national absorption on matters of sport. It is not that the fighting spirit which spurs a nation to strain every nerve in the determination to surpass its rivals is wanting in England today, but that it finds its expression less in the ambition to excel in the qualities which set a nation in the van of civilization than in an eager calculation of the prospects of favorite champions in this or that game. Pol-

THORPES old English GINGER BEER has a smack of its own.

BOWLING
Fort Street Alleys now open.
Ten Cents Per Game

ties themselves are infected by the same spirit, and to many the struggle between parties presents itself as a rather exciting sport in which the proposals that will make or mar the country are only the moves of expert players. The big issues that lie behind are forgotten or ignored in the interest of "dishing the Whigs." The man in the crowd turns from his bets to see the league match to his bets on the general election. In both he is deeply interested, and in both for the same reason that they make an appeal to his sporting instincts. The number of people who support a policy because they believe it to be the best for the nation and to lead on the national greatness is small compared to the great mass who accept it merely because it gives a good scope to their fighting instinct.

Often Partisan

"The purely partisan spirit is the more deplorable today, because the danger of a definite cleavage between parties on lines of class and of nothing else is very real. If the most popular and prevalent conception of politics becomes that borrowed from spectacular football, and the sole object of any party is to score off the other at any price, then the fate of the country is quite certainly fixed. It will be outclassed and beaten by every nation in which the fighting spirit is directed not to internal dissensions but to external dangers. No observer will deny that in England today the sense of national solidarity is decreasing; it has been said that politics are becoming more real, by which it is meant that the differences between parties are becoming more fundamental; as this so-called reality of domestic differences increases the quality of national unity decreases. No people can afford to put into sport or into partisan politics that intensity of feeling which should be given to national ambitions alone. The fault lies not in the lack of the true spirit—the nation is not yet lethargic or anaemic—but in the lack of an outlet. The institutions of the country do not provide any means by which the vigor of the natural fighting instinct is directed to its proper end. Only by national training and national service can the huge and chaotic mass of modern democracy be brought into touch with the realities of a national life. To bring the little activities of sport to their proper level of importance, to make the whole stand out clearly greater than any part, every man must be trained to realize his responsibility and to take his share in national defence. A nation must be armed today. Only that it may be secure and freed alike from unworthy panics and from idle boastings, but because only through seeing his country in arms can a man of the city crowd learn to set his country above party and above class."

HIT AND RUN GAME CHOSEN

Sacrifice Play Thrown Aside by the Giants

The plan of the Giants to cut out the sacrifice hit, for the rest of the season as an experiment has aroused a big lot of talk around the circuit. McGraw adopted the hit-and-run idea almost exclusively about two months ago, and to that he credits the great success of the team on the last Western trip.

The fact that he had stopped his batters from bunting when the first batter up reached first was quickly noticed in the several cities, and now they are arguing the advisability of the idea throughout both leagues. Ty Cobb, Beaumont, Wagner and Magee all believe the McGraw plan the best. On the other hand, there are scores of players who disagree with him.

In brief, McGraw's plan is when the first man gets on base for the succeeding batter to hit the ball out instead of bunting, and the man on base must start with the swing. He says the percentage is largely against a double play, or a force out as the bases runner is on the jump with the swing of the ball. Of course, it will fail at times, but he believes that the chances of getting two on bases with none out are about equal to the chances of having a sacrifice fail. In other words, he believes the hit will go through as often as the sacrifice will succeed. If his plans succeed, then there are two runners on with none out. If the sacrifice succeeds there is only one on and one out. As baseball is largely a game of chance he believes in going after the big package.

DRY-SOX SHOES Are Permanently Wet-Proof

Because you've been disappointed in some so-called waterproof shoes is no reason why you should conclude that it's impossible to make a wet-proof shoe.

The soles of DRY-SOX Shoes are guaranteed to be absolutely waterproof.

The inner sole or sole next to the foot is made of leather.

To this inner sole is sewn a layer of waterproof canvas extending to the outer edge of the sole.

Cement is used over the stitching of this canvas which prevents wet getting through.

Next comes a layer of cork and then the oak tanned outer sole.

This outer sole is treated with a preparation which makes it absolutely wet-proof.

DRY-SOX are the only shoes made with permanently wet-proof soles.

BID FAREWELL TO MISS CAMERON

Leave for the East After Pleasant Visit in Her Former Home

The home of W. G. Cameron was crowded on Thursday afternoon and evening by the friends who crowded to wish Godspeed to his sister Miss Agnes Deans Cameron on the eve of her leaving for the east.

Miss Cameron's informal invitation given through the press included "old and young," and surely Shakespeare's "Seven Ages of Man" were represented in the happy throng of friends. Miss Cameron was overheard to say, "It reminds me of a South Park Commencement Day," and a large proportion of the visitors were old-time pupils of hers.

The rooms were fragrant with sweet Victoria flowers, and a happy air of unconventional kindness pervaded the function. Miss Cameron's unique Indian and Eskimo curios were displayed in one room, and with them her collection of Arctic and sub-Arctic flora gathered during her Northland journeys.

Good Wishes of Sisters

During the afternoon Miss Cameron was the recipient of the following letter from the Sisters of St. Ann's:

"My Dear Miss Cameron: To the large number of friends who shall be able to greet you personally today, please add the congratulations and kindly feelings of the Sisters of St. Ann, who will not be thus favored in meeting you.

"Your advent to our city in your present pose has been a joy and a pleasure to us, and we share the satisfaction that your success has awakened in the hearts of your relatives and sincere well-wishers.

"Your travels and experiences will enable you to accomplish much good.

(and you may justly consider yourself as your friends consider you) a powerful helper in the cause of education. "May you be permitted to penetrate other parts of our beautiful country, and with your adroitness of detecting even the trivial advantages, make it better known, loved and honored. "Wishing you health and Godspeed, Yours very sincerely,

RUSHING WORK ON THE MILL BAY ROAD

The new road from Victoria to Mill Bay, which is being constructed by the Provincial government, is making splendid progress towards completion, Michael Carlin, who has the contract, announces that thirty additional men have been put to work, and that the project will be rushed along from this date.

This is an improvement which Victorians have been watching with exceptional interest. It is generally considered one of the most gratifying public works, as far as this city and the adjacent east coast districts are concerned, that has ever been inaugurated. The effect will be to place Victoria in closer communication with the agricultural sections of Cowichan Valley, etc., and, moreover, it will make one of the most beautiful scenic drives on the Island.

They will not be opened, however, until the regular meeting of the council of the municipality next week. ## The Open Door to Industrial, Agricultural, and Mining Opportunities

An enthusiastic salesman or advertising writer is ever prone to view his own proposition as "THE ONE BEST" You say: "Sure! That's his business, that's what he is paid for." Granted—but did you ever stop to reflect that before that same salesman or writer puts on a publicity or selling campaign for a well known, reputable concern he must FIRST INFORM HIMSELF, he must "know where-of he speaks," he must not make one single misstatement, he must, even in his enthusiasm, TELL HIS PUBLIC THE ABSOLUTE TRUTH? Always assuming that those whom he represents are men of business integrity and good repute.

The men back of the new town of Newport, the men back of the Howe Sound, Pemberton Valley and Northern Ry., and the land agents, The British American Trust Co., Ltd., are all men of solid business standing with reputations to maintain for integrity and honor.

Therefore, when we tell you that there is going to be a thriving seaport town at the head of Howe Sound, NEWPORT, when we tell you of the railroad, the timber, the agricultural lands, the undeveloped mineral resources—go back of our own knowledge of the situation and facts and the enthusiasm engendered by such knowledge and find The character and reputation of the men who stand sponsor for NEWPORT.

On MONDAY, OCT. 25, weather permitting, we will be pleased to take you to NEWPORT and—THEN YOU WILL KNOW

EMPEROR NICHOLAS ON HIS WAY TO ITALY

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—Emperor Nicholas, who is on his way to visit King Victor Emmanuel in Italy, passed through Germany today. He had breakfasted at Erfurt, proceeding thence to France by way of Halle Saxony and Frankfurt-on-the-Maine.

The Russian Emperor is not traveling in an imperial train, but occupies a first-class compartment on a regular train. The usual story, that on the journey the Emperor is being impersonated by a Russian official is current, but with no more basis than in the past. He is accompanied by three members of the imperial household. Great precaution had been taken by the German authorities to prevent a railway accident. Immediately before the train bearing the Russian party passed, each section of the railroad received a special examination by track walkers. At stations along the route extra forces of policemen have been placed.

Arrived Safely.

FRANKFORT-ON-THE-MAINE, Oct. 22.—The train on which Emperor Nicholas is a passenger reached here this afternoon, proceeding for Lyons, France.

MURDER AND RIOTS IN MAYORALTY FIGHT

Election at Gary, Ind., Attended By Sentiment of Unprecedented Bitterness.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 22.—One murder, two riots, scores of street fights between citizens and the severance of three business partnerships is the result of four days of intense political strife at Gary, Ind., attendant upon the election of the first mayor of the Steel City.

The mutilated body of Roda Ivanich, who was taking an active part in the fight, was found yesterday, lying in the middle of one of Gary's principal streets. Ivanich had been shot with a revolver through the back of the head. His face was then beaten into an almost unrecognizable mass. Two men are being held as suspects. Following close upon the disclosures of the Ivanich murder, it was announced that three business firms had dissolved partnership because of animosity growing out of the bitter mayoralty campaign.

LLOYD-GEORGE'S REVISED BUDGET

Chancellor Presents Figures Showing Slump From Original Figures of $10,500,000.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, presented in the House of Commons this afternoon the budget estimate as revised by him. The new figures show a falling off from the original estimates aggregating $10,500,000 of which slump $4,000,000 may be accounted for by the decreased revenue on spirits since the new and higher taxes were levied against them. To offset these decreases there are estimated increases of $2,500,000 included in which are unexpected windfalls in the shape of death duties totalling $6,500,000 more than was originally expected and thus saving the chancellor from the necessity of facing a serious deficiency. To meet a shortage of $1,250,000, Mr. Lloyd-George proposes to take $2,500,000 more out of the sinking fund.

GREAT COLIN GOES OUT OF TRAINING

SANDOWN PARK, Eng., Oct. 22.—The great Sapping stake of 1,000 sovereigns, for 2-year-olds, distance five furlongs, was run here today and won by Sun Angel. Newcastle II was second, and Duneaven third. There were six starters.

James R. Keene's Colin has been taken out of training and sent to the Egerton stud at New Market, all efforts have failed to bring back the great stallion to racing form.

The Hook 2-year-old maiden plate of 200 sovereigns, distance five furlongs, was won by Protestant Boy. Pequot was second and Beach Comber third.

A Pertinent Question

For curiosity's sake, you who read this, ask a neighbor or anyone with whom you may have casual conversation today, who has a fair idea of Real Estate values in Victoria:—"What is a Residential Lot, just a mile distant from the City Hall, worth?" We think you will find the answer will be, nine times out of ten, to the following effect:—"Anywhere from $500 to $1000, or more. It depends on the location." And the answer would be right. Well, what of that? Just this—and a word to the wise is sufficient,—

Jean, of Woonsocket, had positively identified the body as that of her missing daughter Amelia. The district attorney also said this afternoon that a result of the autopsy held yesterday he could see no reason why the charge of murder against "Professor" Frank Hill, of this city, should be changed. Previously Mrs. St. Jean was not certain as to the identity. Today, it is said, unmistakable marks were found.

MURPHY FAVORS A LONGER BALL SEASON

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 22.—President Murphy, of the Cubs, has put himself on record as favoring a longer season of baseball. The present season of 154 games begins April 15 and ends the first week in October, while the players are under contract from April 15 to October 15.

"I can't say just how many games I would favor," he said, "but it seems to me that the season ought to be extended to cover the players' contracts."

JOHNSON WANTS TO FIGHT ON ANY TERMS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—"Jeffries can make his own terms in a bout with Johnson. All we want to do is to show that Jack is the better man."

This was the statement made yesterday by George Little, manager of Johnson, who will depart for the east today and meet Jeffries.

Johnson was arrested again yesterday. Just before the parade of one of the celebrations of Portola week was scheduled to march down Market street, the colored boxer whirled into sight in an automobile and drove down

QUAKES AT MESSINA CAUSE GREAT ALARM

Renewed Activity of Mount Vesuvius Predicted By Frank L. Perret.

MESSINA, Oct. 22.—Yesterday's earth shocks, felt in the vicinity of Mount Etna, coincident with the renewed activity of Mount Vesuvius, have caused much alarm here. The fact that such seismic disturbances have been predicted by Frank L. Perret, the scientist formerly assistant director of the Royal observatory of Mt. Vesuvius, has not lessened the uneasiness. Mr. Perret was in this city during the last week of September, and at that time pointed out that September 29 would be a date most favorable for earth shocks and volcanic eruptions, for the reason at that time the sun, earth and moon would be in line, thus constituting a combination tending to produce gravitational distortion of the earth's form. He added that if nothing out of the ordinary occurred, as proved to be the case, it would mean that the earth had resisted the pressure, but that telluric convulsions would very likely be experienced in the latter part of October.

NAPLES, Oct. 22.—The eruption of Mount Vesuvius, which became alarmingly active yesterday, appears to be decreasing today. Villages in the vicinity of the volcano are filled with strangers, mostly foreigners who have hastened here to witness the phenomena.

JAPAN'S SMALL STANDING ARMY

Less Than 200,000 Men Under Arms—Chinese Naval Activity

SHANGHAI, Oct. 21.—In calculating the size of a national army, it is hardly possible to get beyond approximate figures. Hence a calculation of the strength of the Japanese army just produced must be received on that basis, but without any suspicion that it wanders far from the truth. Indeed, the authority responsible for the statistics vouches that the actual numbers are in excess of those given. Taking the figures as they are presented, it would appear the number of men actually under arms, or, in other words, serving with the colors, in Japan is:

Infantry .....	129,969
Cavalry .....	14,500
Artillery .....	11,270
Engineers .....	10,400
Commissariat .....	5,240
Heavy Artillery .....	5,690
Mountain Artillery .....	1,920
Communication troops .....	2,000

Total .....

184,590
This is the military strength on a peace footing being more than double what it was when the Russo-Japanese war broke out. On a war footing the army is put at 2,214,000, exclusive of 10,000 troops serving in Formosa, 15,000 officers and non-commissioned officers serving with the colors, and a very large number of officers and non-commissioned officers whose names are borne on the reserves.

Chinese Army

Flattering things have been said in some quarters of the changes made in the character of the Chinese army under its new system of training, which is understood to be on German lines. As observer of the soldiery in the district of Yunnan-fu gives impressions, however, which are frankly adverse. He writes: "The rank and file are mostly in the hands of incompetent officers, men who, probably having bought their positions, have had, and certainly possess, but scant field training themselves. One evening I rode out to the magnificent training ground, and watched for an hour some thousand or more men undergoing their daily drill. Typical tin soldiery and a military sham is the only term that fits the affair."

Only with the merest notion of matters military were most of the men conversant, and alike in ordinary marching—when it was most difficult for them even to maintain regularity of step—or in more complicated drilling, there was a lack of the right spirit, no go, no gusto—scores and scores of them running around doing something, going through a routine with the knowledge that when it was finished they would be happy. Officers, strutting about in peacock fashion, with a sword dangling at their side, showed no inclination to enforce order, and the rank and file knew it, so that the disorder and haphazardness of the whole thing was absolutely mutual."

Naval Education

Yet evidence is sufficient to show that China is as energetic as its temperaments will permit in bringing up its army and its navy to more modern standards of efficiency. With regard to the navy, Prince Su and his co-commissioners have formulated plans for the formation of a nucleus navy, which embrace reform in naval education, encouragement of ship-building and arms manufacture, and the improvement of communications and coast defenses, and Prince Tsai Hsun and Admiral Sah, commissioners, are said to have decided on the following steps:

1. To ascertain the number of existing men-of-war and vessels; (2) to raise the necessary funds; (3) to foster naval education; (4) to inspect and build up the navy as the provincial governments have to be communicated with on these various proposals, many months must elapse before definite results are seen.

In his public utterances Prince Ito, of Japan, invariably exhibits a sagacious comprehension of current affairs. Speaking recently at a banquet given in his honor, he referred to the friendly spirit which has arisen between Japan and England, and remarked that in order to carry out the alliance entered into the exertions of the Japanese nation at large were needed in addition to those of its officials. Anything that tended to the detriment of the alliance would impair Japan's sovereign status and might even affect her very existence.

Some reference he also made to the way in which Japan is exercising her protectorate over Korea since received support from the reports of strenuous attempts to introduce modern methods of sanitation among the unlightened people of the peninsula. In spite of stubborn resistance to every new departure, and the vice-like hold which the opium evil has obtained on the people.

Stamping Out Piracy.

With the staying of the notorious pirate Jikiri and his band, piracy in the Sulu Sea is, it is hoped, crushed out forever. Jikiri, who had sworn the terrible oath to kill 100 people before he "passed in his checks," was located, with seven of his gang and his wife, on the island of Patian, having taken possession of a fortified cave in the crater of an extinct volcano. A gunboat and troops were sent to capture them. After ineffectually shelling the cave for two days and nights, the troops prepared to rush the defenders. But but the latter took the initiative and charged the troops.

With their terrible barongs and kris the pirates hacked right and left among the soldiers. Lieut. Wilson was almost decapitated by Jikiri himself who paid the penalty by having the top of his head blown off with a load of buckshot. Eventually all the outlaws were killed, but the troops lost three dead and nineteen wounded. If the full list of Jikiri's victims were known, it is believed that his awful oath would have been verified.

"Christian Science" in Japan.

Japan has a sect who practice a religion called Tenrikyo. The doctrines is said to be very similar to that of Christian Scientists, and, like Christian Science also, very singularly, it was founded by a woman. Its adherents, stated to be numbered by tens of thousands, belong to the lower classes. They have temples, schools, hospitals, and other institutions and their priests travel all over the Japanese colonies to gather in converts. According to reports, a youth of 18, proselytized by one of these agents, has just left Korea to enter one of the training schools, bringing with him ten youthful companions.

Other Notable Marriages.

For nearly thirty years Robert Elliott was the principal officiating priest, and in his now almost inaccessible memoirs (they are not to be traced in the British Museum) he tells the story of Lord Westmoreland's marriage with Miss Child, in the following words:

"The father of the young lady was an eminent banker in London, where he had acquired an immense fortune. The Earl of Westmoreland, smitten with the lady's beauty—or more probably with her fortune—paid his address to her, and eventually became her accepted lover. He afterwards went to her father for his consent, but did not obtain it, for the father, in reply to his importunities, said: 'Your blood, my lord, is good, but money is better.' The earl, disappointed, but not disheartened, was determined to have her. Having appointed a place for meeting, he eloped at night, in a chaise and four horses, having ordered horses to be in readiness all along the road, and at Shap had the foresight to engage all the horses in the village to prevent any further getting so soon to Gretna Green. Mr. Child, son of a wealthy departure, as quickly followed them, and having, through numbers of horses and great rewards to the postboys, gained ground considerably, at the last came up with them while changing horses at Hesketh, in the forest between Carlisle and Penrith.

Mr. Child, in a fury, jumped out of his carriage and shot one of the leading horses of the earl's carriage. One of the earl's servants at the same time ran behind Mr. Child's carriage, and cut the leather which suspends the body of the carriage to the springs, unobserved. The earl proceeded with the three horses, leaving the fourth dying. Mr. Child, starting soon after, had not gone far when the carriage fell upon the frame, which entirely stopped him, and he was compelled to wait until he could get a postchaise to proceed with; consequently the earl and the lady arrived at Gretna, and were united long before the arrival of Mr. Child.

Curiously enough, a granddaughter of this adventurous pair, Lady Adela Villiers, daughter of an earl of Jersey, contracted, in 1842, the last marriage of any social importance at Gretna Green, and her husband, Colonel Fitzbott, formerly of the 11th Hussars, who survived her thirty-eight years, died in 1898. The tenth Earl of Dundonald, whose name stands so high in naval records for his South American and other services, married Miss Katherine Barnes here in 1812, to the intense annoyance of his rich uncle, leading the gallant Admiral to write: "Without a particle of romance in my composition, my life has been one of the most romantic on record, and the circumstances of my marriage were not least so." Two Lord Chancellors—Lord Eldon, who at the age of 21 eloped with Miss Surtees, and Lord Brougham, who married Mrs. Spalding, a widow—made "over the border" marriages at Annan or Coldstream, and many other notable names could be cited.

Gretna Green figured in the House of Lords in a case that, in 1827, caused an immense sensation. Miss Ellen Turner, aged only 16, whose father, Mr. William Turner, represented Blackburn in Parliament from 1832 to 1841, was at school at the time, and was induced to allow herself to be taken to Manchester by a servant who said he had come to fetch her as one of her parents was very ill. At Manchester she was joined by a man named Edward Gibbon Wakefield, who told her that her father had been ruined by a bank failure, and if she would marry him he would give her father £60,000 to save him from imprisonment. The poor child believed it, and went to Gretna, but her uncle quickly came after her and brought her home. There was subsequently a prosecution for abduction, and Wakefield and his brother (who had represented the servant) were both sentenced to three years' imprisonment, while the House of Lords shortly afterwards passed a bill annulling the marriage. Wakefield subsequently was private secretary to Lord Durham in Canada in 1838.

Let Me Tell You Something

A woman who is sick and suffering, and won't at least try a medicine which has the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is to blame for her own wretched condition.

There are literally hundreds of thousands of women in Canada and the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

Read what these women say:

Belleriver, Que.—"Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive. For five months I had painful irregular periods and inflammation of the uterus. I suffered like a martyr and thought often of death. I consulted two doctors who could do nothing for me. I went to a hospital, and the best doctors said I must submit to an operation, because I had a tumor. I went back home much discouraged. One of my cousins advised me to take your Compound, as it had cured her. I did so and soon commenced to feel better, and my appetite came back with the first bottle. Now I feel no pain and am cured. Your remedy is deserving of praise."—Mrs. Emma Chatel, Valleyfield, Belleriver, Quebec.

Erie, Pa.—"I suffered for five years from female troubles, and at last was almost helpless. I tried three doctors but they did me no good. My sister advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has made me well and strong. I hope all suffering women will just give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, for it is worth its weight in gold."—Mrs. J. P. Endlich, R. F. D. 7, Erie, Pa.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering from the same trouble.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

What Lipton Thinks of Advertising.

"I dare say I owe a great deal of my success to advertising," says Sir Thomas Lipton in his Reminiscences in the October Strand magazine. "I always tried to get hold of some new method. To attract attention I used to post cartoons in my shop window. In later years, when my business had spread, on one occasion I engaged an aeronaut to throw out from his car ten thousand telegraph messages addressed to one of my shops. I offered prizes to the first twenty people who arrived with a message, and the findings coming from all parts of the city, much popular interest resulted. "Advertisement sometimes, as I have found, results most unexpectedly and from unthought conditions. About 6 o'clock one morning, while in Ireland, I was awakened by the telephone bell ringing in my bedroom. Springing out of bed, I soon learned that a fire had broken out at my Newry branch. On arrival at the scene of the fire I found nothing could be saved, so I immediately telegraphed to my Dublin and Belfast stores and ordered a fresh stock of provisions to be sent by passenger trains. Meanwhile, when so quickly was practically appreciated."

The Post and The Colonist are the modern mediums for attracting attention to your offerings. It has been asserted that Jews possess an unusual power of resistance against the effects of alcohol, and statistics would appear to bear this out. Alcoholism is certainly rare in the race. Is this due, as some think, to a kind of hereditary immunity to narcotic poisons in general and to alcohol in particular, or is it merely a social characteristic? Doctor Chénissée, a Parisian physician who has made a thorough study of the subject, thinks the latter alternative is, without doubt, the true one. The surprising vitality of the Jewish race, which has enabled it to survive the persecutions of centuries, is to be attributed largely to habits of temperance, and these habits are the outcome of social and religious customs and environment. It is, he thinks, the "cohesive and concentrative force of the religious community," that preserves the great mass of the Jewish people from alcohol. They have avoided the dangers of alcoholism, not by being able to take alcohol with impunity, but by taking it not at all, or sparingly.

The writer's conclusions are, he thinks upheld by the fact, which he considers undoubted, that when these social and religious ties become weakened in any body of Jews, they succumb to alcohol in the same manner as other races. Any sort of racial immunity, therefore, is out of the question.

Ladies Didn't Strike. NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The expected strike of some 40,000 members of the Ladies Waist Makers' union did not materialize today and an effort to arbitrate was made on the part of the employers. The matter will probably come to a head at a mass meeting to be held soon at Cooper Union, when Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is expected to speak.

Are Jews Immune to Alcohol. It has been asserted that Jews possess an unusual power of resistance against the effects of alcohol, and statistics would appear to bear this out. Alcoholism is certainly rare in the race.

TRIANGULAR RUN AT AN END

Princess Will Sail at Midnight for Seattle, Beginning on November 6th

IROQUOIS ON SEATTLE-VANCOUVER

Conference Between Steamship Officials Decides Winter Schedule

Two weeks hence the triangular route will be abandoned for the winter season. An agreement was reached at Vancouver yesterday between officials of the C. P. R. and Joshua Green, manager of the International Steamship company, whereby the Vancouver-Seattle route will be given over to the steamer Iroquois for the winter season and the C. P. R. steamers will maintain the Victoria-Seattle service alone for the season. Capt. J. W. Green returned by the steamer Charmer last night after attending the conference at Vancouver.

The new service will be commenced on November 6, and one of the two big three-funnelled liners will be laid up, probably the Princess Charlotte. The service between Victoria and Seattle will be maintained by the Princess Victoria or Princess Royal, leaving this port at midnight for Seattle and returning, leaving Seattle at 9 a. m., as at present.

Amur Returns.

The steamer Amur, Capt. Locke, returned from Queen Charlotte and northern B. C. ports yesterday, bringing a big cargo of salmon south and she docked at the outer wharf to discharge her cargo for shipment to England by the steamer Keemun of the Blue Funnel line. The steamer Princess May, Capt. McLeod, also reached port, arriving in the early morning. The steamer Princess Beatrice, Capt. Whiteley, returned to Vancouver yesterday morning. The Princess Beatrice brought 160 sacks of mail rescued from the sunken Ohio, by the Vancouver Salvage company. The steamer men on the boat off at Carter Bay, scene of the wreck, and took over the sodden mail bags. They were handed over to the post office authorities at Vancouver and sent on to Seattle. The Beatrice brought word that fair progress was being made in salvaging the Ohio's cargo. She brought little cargo, but 69 passengers, among whom were Major Gibson, and Mr. G. A. McNeil, purchasing agent for the G. T. P.

May Lost Wheel.

The Princess May, from Skagway, struck a log south of Prince Rupert with the result that one wheel was stripped and the vessel made her way to this port under one engine. The mishap resulted in the steamer being a day late, as she was due yesterday morning. The Princess Beatrice, from Prince Rupert, has been in close touch with the May on the passage out. The May left Prince Rupert on her way north, and the Beatrice passed the first night out. Then having to make some calls the Beatrice dropped astern but overhauled the May at Seymour Narrows where the partially disabled twin screw vessel was waiting for the tide. The Beatrice went right on and arrived at Vancouver at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The May following her into port about 3 o'clock.

The Boscowitz steamer Vado, arrived at Vancouver at midnight yesterday, from northern B. C. ports with 16,000 cases of salmon. Of these, 7,000 cases were discharged at the C. P. R. pier and the balance at Evans, Coleman & Evans. The vessel was late in arriving owing to making a special call at Kinsout for salmon. The steamer is expected this morning. A full cargo is waiting her outward, including a large shipment of lumber.

MONTEAGLE SAILS FOR THE ORIENT

Many Demented Chinese Leave for China Under Guard—Missionaries for Cathay.

The C. P. R. liner Montecagle sailed for the Orient during the night with a peculiar lot of passengers in the steerage, for the big vessel took out 30 demented Chinamen in that section and a large number of missionaries. In the saloon, the Chinese are lunatics from all over the continent and are being deported under guard. There were 200 Chinese in the steerage passengers and the number of saloon passengers was 90. Among the saloon passengers were some sisters of mercy and two lady doctors, Doctor Mabel Hannington and Doctor Annie Robinson, who are going out to mission hospitals in the Far East.

HARBOR PIRATES BUSY AT SEATTLE

Looted the Steam Schooner Tallac as She Came Anchored at Sound Port

SEATTLE, Oct. 22.—Harbor pirates looted the steamer Tallac Wednesday night and got away with articles the value of which could not be estimated yesterday, as the extent of their depredations was hard to determine. The decks were stripped of practically everything that was not bolted down. This is the second time within a few days that vessels have been boarded by piratical gangs, and the steamboat men on the water front will petition for some sort of a harbor patrol to protect craft from further loss.

The Tallac, Capt. Louis Hansen, arrived in Seattle late Wednesday night from Tacoma and tied up to pier 3. About midnight one of the watchmen employed by a private company saw three men in a boat off the float at the foot of Madison street, next to pier 3, and spoke to them, but they gave no answer. They rowed out from the slip and were swallowed up in the shadows. Beyond this there is no clew.

Capt. Hansen said that the thieves must have worked with the greatest caution, for they made no noise, stole and all sorts of articles taken from the decks, and they even carried off the sugar bowls and table ware from the dining saloon. Some of the rope coils were very heavy, and the gear included several weighty blocks and tools. The steamer had on board stores for its trip to San Francisco, and practically all of the parcels as delivered from the grocer were spirited away, while over a hundred pounds of fresh meat hanging aft was also included in the loot.

Capt. Hansen said that if the men did their work from a small boat they must have made several trips to and from the Tallac before they completed the job.

ADOLPH PUTS INTO MONTEVIDEO

Sailer Which Took Places of Disabled Sky, Also in Distress

The German ship Adolph is reported putting into Montevideo with her cargo shifted and her rigging damaged. The Adolph was bringing to Seattle for H. Lund & Company general cargo from Antwerp, which was first dispatched last spring on the Norwegian ship Skjold. The Skjold was forced to put into St. Vincent, Cape Verde island, last April, the cargo having shifted. The vessel was badly damaged and the underwriters advised transferring the cargo to another boat, the Adolph being chartered for this purpose. The Adolph sailed from St. Vincent August 30.

HOLT HILL IS SAFE AT DEAL

Well Known Sailing Ship Whose Boats Were Washed Ashore Puts Into Port

Fears for the safety of the British bark Holt Hill, Capt. Belmont, were allayed yesterday by the receipt of cable advices announcing the arrival of the ship at Deal, where she put in Tuesday in distress with sails torn and two of her lifeboats missing. The vessel has cargo for San Francisco from Hamburg and this is the second time she has had to put back in damaged condition. Saturday advices were received telling of the wreckage of two lifeboats from the Holt Hill washing ashore on the coast of Sussex and some anxiety has since been expressed among shipping men for the safety of the vessel.

The experience of the Holt Hill is quite similar to that of the British bark Zinita, now at this port to load grain for the United Kingdom. When the Zinita left Europe for Tacoma she likewise made three attempts before getting under way. She sailed first from Shields, and November 17 put back to Deal with sails torn and decks swept. She sailed from Deal December 2, and later put in to Falmouth in leaking condition. She afterward "capped the climax" by making an unusually slow passage to this coast, being given up for lost by many shippers.

The Holt Hill left Hamburg September 4 for San Francisco. In four days she returned in leaking condition, having struck some unknown submerged object. After a month's delay for repairs, during which she had to discharge a part of her cargo, she again put to sea. She left Hamburg October 10 and was reported passing Dungeness four days later. Two days later the wreckage of two of her lifeboats floated off Sussex coast and on the same day she put into Deal in distress.

"The Holt Hill is well known at this and other Puget Sound ports. During the past two or three seasons she has figured prominently in the overdue list. On her last voyage out from Europe to the Sound, Master Capt. Parker, died and was buried at sea. She arrived on the Sound more than 200 days out and up for insurance at a high rate. Capt. Boldersone, her present master, succeeded Capt. Parker. He is well known here, and since the report of the ship's wreckage washing ashore Saturday his friends here have been a little alarmed."

SENATOR IS TOWED TO SEATTLE

Sailing Ship Long Idle at Esquimalt Goes to Sound to Be Overhauled

The British ship Senator which for so many months has been lying disengaged with the British ship Halewood at Esquimalt, left yesterday for Seattle where she will enter the dry dock to be cleaned and painted. It was reported some time ago that a charter had been obtained for the Senator, but it was not confirmed. The moving of the vessel to Seattle has revived the reports.

It was expected early in the season that there would be no difficulty in securing grain charters for both the Halewood and Senator which had waited over from the previous grain season to this end, but the coming of so many tramp steamers to the North Pacific soured the market. The union rate for sailing ships is 27 shillings 6 pence and shipowners have held out for the amount. The steamers, which brought coal for the United States navy from the Atlantic coast, have entered the market though, and sent rates glimmering, with the result that the Senator and Halewood with some other disengaged sailers at coast ports have remained idle.

ACCIDENT COSTLY TO FISHING BOAT

Fishing Steamer Thistle Sought by Tug to Hurry Halibut Catch to Seattle

In an effort to hurry the disabled fishing steamer Thistle with a large haul of halibut taken on the northern British Columbia fishing grounds to Seattle in time to take advantage of the high price of seven cents a pound now ruling, a tug has been dispatched to the Gulf of Georgia in search of the Thistle. The accident happened when passing Cape Mudge, in British Columbia waters, and with what little power the craft had left it struggled along to make the home port before the market dropped, but the best the crippled steamer could make was something less than four miles an hour.

Capt. Johnson of the Thistle, put off in a small boat for Nanaimo, and notified the owners of the Thistle in Seattle of the plight of his command by telegraph. With calm weather he reported that he could keep on going, and he hoped to reach the Thistle down Loughby channel, but if there was any rough weather he would have to seek shelter and throw out his mud hooks.

To take advantage of the market it is probable that a tug will be dispatched from Seattle to take the Thistle in before the price drops. The cargo as it stands, with the closing price on the market yesterday, is worth something like $5,000, but the arrival of some of the big fish steamers in the halibut trade, or even of one of them, might break the market and cut the prices seriously.

The demand for halibut has been heavy recently, and the supply has been cut down owing to the gradual removal of the fleet of schooners which operates off Cape Flattery in the summer to the Alaska fishing grounds to the west of Petersburg. The northern fleet has not got down to work yet, and consequently the Alaska deliveries are light, while there are only a couple of schooners fishing off the cape.

The big power schooner Edrie, which fishes in Alaska and delivers its catch direct to Seattle, is also out of commission, having broken its shaft off the Petersburg banks last week. The vessel was towed to Petersburg, and is at anchor there, waiting the arrival of a new shaft in Seattle, to be forwarded and put in place. Last year the Edrie lost a month's fishing from the same cause.

Ceremony Was Simple

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The ceremony for the opening of the Montreal Tuberculosis Institute at West Dean Park yesterday was a simple one. At a few minutes before nine o'clock and after the line had been tested His Majesty, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. James and their guests, left the dining room where the signals for the opening of the special telegraph instrument had been installed. Punctually at the hour appointed His Majesty's hand pressed the signalling button releasing the current a few seconds later. The turn signal announcing the successful performance of the ceremony was received by the king, who then returned to the dining room. The king was delighted with the success of the ceremony and is having a memorial tablet let into the wall marking the spot where the signals for the opening of the hospital emanated. The king also expressed pleasure in the handsome souvenir of the occasion presented him by Montreal. He also congratulated Mr. Ward, of the Commercial Cable Company, on the excellence of the arrangements.

Traveling Too Easy.

Everybody must recognize the advantages of cheap traveling, and the competition among those who undertake to convey the public from place to place is such as to reduce the cost to a minimum. In many cases, indeed, it is stated that the public is practically carried for nothing. The inducement to ride rather than walk is thus a temptation which continually confronts the public. It is not difficult to see in this a process which is a form of exercise because traveling is so cheap. Formerly he walked the distance to save a relatively costly fare. The lift is another example of a modern innovation which encourages idleness, and which, indeed, tends to make the staircase a superfluous and obsolete feature. This is very strikingly illustrated in a large hotel, when the great palatial staircases constructed before the days of lifts are scarcely now ever used. Another example of the demoralizing tendency of cheap traveling is seen in the traveling platform, which is devised to save so much walking. Everywhere machinery is devised to save physical effort, as though we possessed no means at all for getting about ourselves. Surely this state of things cannot be good for the physical and healthful activity in the future generation, but is more likely to lead to a state of atrophy which must react unfavorably on the individual. It is open to question whether the human race is better off for at any rate a number of facilities which are constantly thrown in its way. There are, of course, compensations, but not we think, in all cases.—The Lancet.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE HEARS PROTESTS

J.B.A.A.—Victoria West Game
Will Be Replayed—Professionalism Considered

At a meeting of the Victoria City and District Football association, held last night at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, a constitution for the association was drawn up, and several matters connected with the matches that have been played to date came up for consideration. It was held that the match between Beacon Hill and North Ward in the second division, which was played, it had been arranged that this match should take place at the North Ward grounds, but owing to no goal posts having been put up there, the teams went to Beacon Hill. The referee reported to the association that he had called the match, which was won by a score of five goals to one, no game, and it was decided that it should be played over on a date to be selected by both teams. Owing to some of the junior teams not having appeared to play the matches scheduled for them, it was decided that any defaulting team hereafter will lose two points, which will be given to the team showing up. Sherrett, of Esquimalt, who played last Saturday in the second division, was adjudged a senior player, and will hereafter be permitted to play only in the senior division.

A protest from the J. B. A. A. association asking that the game between that club and the Victoria West be thrown out because Duffy played for the Victoria West when he was a professional, was not entertained, because it was not accompanied by the regulation fee, and furthermore, the time within which a protest could be entered had expired. But the question of the professionalism of Duffy was re-opened, when a letter from A. J. Brace, secretary of the B. C. A. A. U., to the secretary of the Football league, enclosing the ruling of President O'Sullivan, of the B. C. A. A. U., relative to the Duffy decision, was read. This ruling was to the effect that the B. C. A. A. U. could not take cognizance of the game, but it was up to the Football league to say whether the game should be played over again, or whether the J. B. A. A. should be given the two points.

D. L. Tait, president of the Victoria West club, moved that a recommendation be sent to the B. C. A. A. U. that all players in the Football league, whether they had played as professionals or not, hereafter be given a clean start. But it was pointed out that this did not affect Duffy in the last game, as he had not registered at that time, though doubtless he will be in the future.

After a keen discussion it was decided that the J. B. A. A.—Victoria West game should be replayed, Sergt. Clement, who in the absence of the president, occupied the chair, giving the casting vote.

QUESTIONS THAT AGITATE FRANCE

State Interference in Church Matters—Revival of the Guillotine

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Just at the moment when the Prime Minister of France, M. Briand, by his presence in the cathedral of Versailles, at the funeral service of the victims of the accident to the airship Republique, has acted in a spirit which is contrary to what has been for some years the tradition of Republican ministers, and thereby taken a step which is obviously intended to mark the conciliatory spirit of the present government towards the Catholic church, the archbishops and bishops of France have published a pastoral letter "on the rights and duties of parents with respect to the schools." The French clergy thus continue the new campaign against lay education, of which the first official manifestations were recorded on September 16, last year.

The collective letter of the French cardinals, archbishops, and bishops, which was addressed twelve months ago to French fathers of families on the question of primary schools in France, was what may justly be designated the first independent public demonstration of the Church of France. It followed hard upon the organization of an association, the object of which was the formation in all the French communes of local associations of parents who, under the presidency of the parish priest, were to make it their business to exercise the strictest surveillance over all that is said and done in the public schools. By the publication of the present pastoral letter, the French parliament is reminded, on the eve of the elections, that the entire French episcopate is behind this concerted effort to reform the French lay school system.

Church and State.

The church is, of course, the best judge of its own interests, but independent observers point out that the present revival of the long protracted war between the Roman Catholic Church and the state has been initiated by the church itself, and that the state has offered no fresh pretext for this flank movement directed by the Vatican. The Radical party in the French Chamber could ask for nothing better from the point of view of their own political interests at this juncture. The pastoral letter lays down the principle that the family is an institution divinely established; that children belong to their parents; and that in matters of education the state can help the parents, but not take their place. The school, therefore, should be, properly speaking, a mere continuation of the life of the family, and parents have the perfect right and the duty to select a school which shall offer such religious instruction as they desire their offspring to receive.

In France there are two sorts of schools—the Ecole libre, or Christian school, and the public school, or Ecole neutre. The pastoral letter defines these two kinds of schools, and declares the disappearance of so many of the Ecole libre in a country like France, where the immense majority of the population are Roman Catholics,

The Ecole neutre is described as involving "the systematic exclusion of all religious instruction, and consequently as casting discredit on truths which all peoples have regarded as the necessary basis of education." The archbishops and bishops call upon French parents to form an association to supervise the schools.

A Nation of Drinkers.

The excessive consumption of spirits in France is, according to several medical men who have recently given voice to their opinions, one of the main reasons for the "wine crisis" now prevailing in France. Less than fifty years ago Frenchmen consumed per head annually less than 3½ pints of alcohol. Today the average adult Frenchman drinks seventy pints of spirits at 100 degrees of strength—that is, almost equivalent to 165 pints of brandy—a year.

Thirty years ago France contained a wine shop or cafe for every 109 inhabitants. Today there is one for every 40. Liquor-selling establishments in Paris number 30,000, while London, whose population is more than double, has only 6,000. Dr. Bertillon, the head of the municipal statistical department, says there are 1,378,000 distilleries in France. In some parts of the country the people take alcohol as others drink water, consuming nearly two pints daily. An alarming aspect of this question is the rapid strides made in absinthe drinking, and the fact that children are becoming familiar with the poison.

Of a class of forty-nine pupils, thirty recently acknowledged that they had tasted absinthe, and in a class of sixty three children between six and nine years of age, twenty-four admitted they were given brandy every day. Whenever the consumption of spirits has increased, the drinking of wine has decreased.

A Labor Organ.

The first number of a new paper, entitled "L'Action Ouvrière," has appeared. It is the organ of the moderate section of the syndicates known as the reformists. It announces that it will endeavor to bring back the labor movement within its proper limits, severing it from all political questions such as anti-parliamentarism and internationalism. It insists also on the need for a radical change in the statutes and methods of the general confederation of Labor, and continues: "The system of representation on the committees of voting in the congresses, the admission of nominal subscriptions, the theory of minority rights, the doctrine of syndicalism, all-sufficient and the systematic organization of violence and the like were easily comprehensible so long as the labor movement remained plunged in the darkness of inexperience and ignorance. This historic period has now passed, and a new period is beginning, based on experience and its lessons and on reason."

Socialistic Budget

E. Paul Leroy-Beaulieu, the distinguished economist, contributes to the Figaro an elaborate account of the various articles of the British Finance Bill which he regards as essentially Socialistic and inimical to the rights of property. He maintains that there has been a kind of rivalry between the British and the French governments in the development of the death duties. As an example of the way in which death duties may be developed until they assume the aspect of confiscation, M. Leroy-Beaulieu points out how those duties in France have gradually been increased, both with regard to the amount of the estate and the legatee's degree of kinship to the testator. He refers to the new proposals of the present French finance minister, M. Cocheret, who, although he is accounted a moderate man, is credited with the intention of increasing the maximum duty to 32½ per cent, when the proposed scheme of workmen's pensions comes into force.

Capital Punishment

Enormous satisfaction is felt in the country parts of France over the revival of the guillotine. At times of this kind the British press is very frequent, so that the life of any old or isolated person was not safe. As a consequence of this punishment, there is already a diminution in the number of cases of murderous assault. Yet the press is doing its utmost to throw discredit on the revived institution. It is grossly sensational. The detailed accounts of the triple execution at Valence were revolting in their descriptions. One newspaper went the length of photographing the victims when they were under the knife. In another photograph, taken just before the condemned were thrust under the guillotine, there seemed to have been real posing.

When the enemies of capital punishment again bring their case before parliament it will be fortified by some examples of this misplaced journalistic enterprise. The remedy, of course, would be the privacy of the executions, but it is difficult to adopt this plan in France. Confidence in the probity of other people is not among the virtues of the French, who are suspicious by nature and, often, with good reason. If the guillotine did its work in the dark, who knows what would happen? The people outside would never believe that a dummy had not been executed.

The Cri de Paris prints a story of Sarah Bernhardt, which has created a stir, and is being widely quoted. In Belle Isle, where she installs herself every summer, leading an absolutely out-of-door and simple life she plays the Lady Bountiful. In the tiny commune in which she is rated as resident, the great tragedienne gives money freely to all local and charitable objects. With a particularly noble gesture she presented a lifeboat. She requested that it should be called after her. The fathers of the commune sat and pondered the matter. They accepted the lifeboat, but they declined to call it "The Sarah Bernhardt." It was argued that to put to sea in a storm under the aegis of an actress, however distinguished, was like counting Providence. The mouthpiece of this sea-faring superstition was the cure, who had received many demonstrations of La Grande Sarah's bounty—a fact that made the blow he inflicted the harder to bear. It is just possible that the tight little island of Belle Isle will have to wait for its lifeboat.

Yet Again From Boni

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Count Boni de Castellane having insisted that his former wife, who was Miss Gould, place the three sons of their marriage in a certain boarding school and the Princess De Salgan having objected, on the ground that the health of the children made such a step inadvisable, the case got into court today. The Count asked that the Princess be ordered to comply with his wishes. Counsel for the Princess explained that his client was only presented from placing the children in the school by the condition of their health. The court promised a decision on Oct. 29.

Recommended As An Ideal Remedy

W. S. BOND ESQ.

Lloydtown, Ont., March 19th, 1909.

"For some years I have been greatly troubled with headaches and indigestion, brought on by stomach disorders, constipation, and biliousness. I had tried many remedies with only indifferent success, until 'Fruit-a-Lives' came to my notice. Being a general storekeeper, I was selling a good many fruit-a-lives to my customers, and remarking how pleased they were with the results obtained from using 'Fruit-a-Lives,' I decided to try them, and I might say the effects were almost magical. Headaches and biliousness disappeared, and today I recommend 'Fruit-a-Lives' to my customers as 'An ideal remedy'."

"I might also add that about three years ago I was laid up with LUMBAGO AND SCIATICA—couldn't get out of bed or lift one foot over the other. A good treatment of 'Fruit-a-Lives' cured me of these pains and banished the Sciatica and Lumbago so that today I am as well as ever, and can lift anything necessary."

(Signed) W. S. BOND.

BANK OF ENGLAND'S MOVE EFFICIENT

Action in Raising Rate of Exchange Has Effect on New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The stock market today repeated its action of several days ago. Heavy selling pressure was in evidence, while the foreign stock exchanges were in season.

The dominant influence in the financial markets continued to be the London market position as directed by the Bank of England's action. The rise in the discount rate in London proved that the Bank of England found it to power to make its higher rate effective and to maintain its control of the open money market. This gave added influence to the advisory advice from London of the determination of the bank authorities to protect the banking resources at that center from further inroads by foreign borrowers or checkers for gold reserves. There were heard in New York banking circles some whisperings of a possible political motive lying back of the bank's drastic action and based on knowledge of governmental affairs not known to the general public.

This suggestion was in some part a reply to the reported view of the London banking world of the responsibility of New York speculative operations in the stock market and the huge borrowings connected with them for the state of affairs developed in the London money market. The Bank of England's action proved its efficacy not only on the home money markets, but on the foreign exchanges which moved with London. The rapid advance in foreign exchanges in the New York market continued, and engagements were announced for gold for shipment to South America on London account.

Negotiations were in progress looking for gold exports to Europe next week. The money market here was not unaffected. The week's currency movement with the interior afforded some relief to sentiment over the money position. The week's higher money rates apparently had operated to attract considerable amounts of bank cash from the points. The sub-treasury operations meantime have not been burdensome on the banks having yielded a nominal sum to these institutions compared with withdrawals last week of over $5,000,000. It is estimated that the banks have gained in the neighborhood of $3,000,000 in cash from various sources during the week. There was fresh selling of stocks late in the day which closed the market weak, and at the lowest.

Bonds were heavy. Total sales par value $3,310,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

CHICAGO GRAIN LETTER.

(Furnished by F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The big feature in the wheat trade of the day was the putting of December prices to a full point over May. This was the outgrowth of cash demand. The special strength in December began just before the close yesterday when the price was run up quickly above the closing point of the day previous. Short took the hint at once this morning and bought wheat on the spot up. The two months, May and December, sold together one hour later. Liverpool displayed good strength in the late cable. Northwest receipts were larger than last year but smaller than a week ago.

The Arcadian Malleable Range

Made Like a Locomotive Boiler.

It Lasts a Lifetime.

The Arcadian Malleable Non-Breakable Range is not made of cheap coke steel, but of the best Charcoal Iron Plates, and its castings are not made of common grey iron, but of the Highest Quality of Malleable Iron.

Malleable Iron is the ideal material for a practical, durable and economical range. Owing to its close, dense and compact texture, it is better fitted to resist the strain of heating and cooling. It possesses great strength.

Charcoal Iron, of which the best and largest steam boilers are made, in order that they may endure the greatest strain, is what is used for the body of the Arcadian Range. This charcoal iron has a density and fineness of grain which gives it great power of resistance against rust and crystallization, making it practically indestructible.

A pure asbestos mill-board is used to line the flues and other parts of the range. It is held between a sheet of charcoal iron and the charcoal iron body.

All joints of the Arcadian Range are riveted so closely and solidly and with such skill that they are as tight as a locomotive boiler and will never open from expansion or contraction.
